UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

The University of Miami is the largest independent teaching and research university in the Southeast and, opened in 1926, is among the nation's youngest. The Coral Gables campus, 10 miles from Miami, is the site of most of the university's undergraduate and graduate programs. The University also operates a medical center in downtown Miami, a world renowned marine and atmospheric science school on Virginia Key in Key Biscayne Bay, and a bio-medical research and development center on its South Campus.

Following goals established in its nationally acclaimed strategic plan, the University of Miami is in the fourth year of one of the largest fund raising campaigns in the history of higher education in the United States. The campaign has raised more than $400 million for endowment, facilities and equipment, and current operations, and will continue until December 1989.

Enrollment at the University of Miami has grown from a few hundred, when classes were held in a remodeled Coral Gables

Hotel, to more than 13,300 credit-seeking students including about 8,600 undergraduate, 2,700 graduate, 1,400 law and 640 medical students.

Representing all U.S. states and 104 foreign countries, the student body is composed of 62 percent Florida residents, 26 percent from other states, and 12 percent foreign nationals. Eighty-three percent of the 1,500 member faculty hold doctorates or other terminal degrees in their fields.

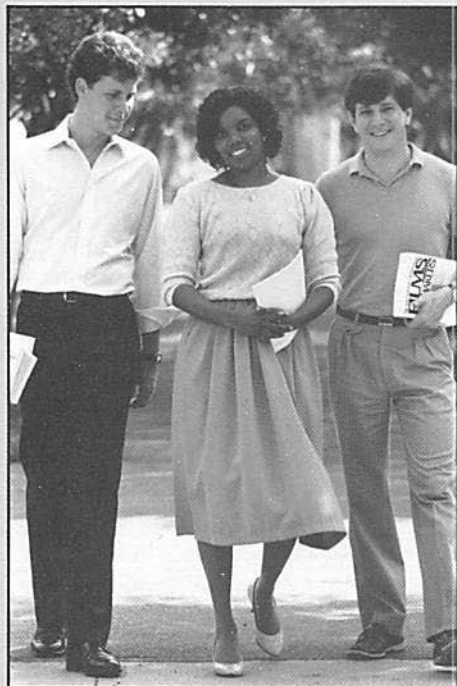

SCHOOLS, COLLEGES, INSTITUTES and CENTERS

The University offers 130 undergraduate and 175 graduate degree programs through Schools of Architecture, Business Administration, Communication, Continuing Studies, Education and Allied Professions, International Studies, Law, Marine and Atmospheric Sciences, Medicine, Music, and Nursing, the Graduate School, and Colleges of Arts and Sciences and Engineering.

The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science is recognized as one of the top three marine science schools in the country. The University offers graduate, as well as undergraduate, degree programs in marine affairs and marine sciences.

Established in 1952 as Florida's first medical school, the University of Miami School of Medicine is the hub of the UM/Jackson Memorial Medical Center, the fifth largest such complex in the country and one of the hemisphere's major centers for teaching, research, diagnosis and patient care. The hospital was recently ranked as "The Best in Medicine" based on peer review by 200 physicians from across the country.

In addition to schools and colleges, many institutes, centers and interdisciplinary units attract national recognition for research and other programs. Among them are: Bascom

Palmer Eye Institute, Innovation and Entrepreneurship Institute, Institute for Molecular and Cellular Evolution, Intelligent Computer Systems Research Institute, Center for Social Research on Aging, Mailman Center for Child Development, and the North-South Center.

RESEARCH

As it has for more than a decade, the University ranks among the top three percent of 2,600 universities and colleges receiving federal research and development grants. During the 1986-87 academic year, the faculty were awarded more than $81 million in separately budgeted grants and contracts from federal, state, local, and private sources — a $20 million increase over the previous year.

In addition to basic research in science, medicine, engineering and social sciences, current projects cover a wide spectrum of global concerns including climatology, oceanography, population and resource studies, criminal justice, aging, water quality, productivity, technology transfer, international relations and health care.

THE COMMUNITY

A crossroads where cultures and commerce of Latin America, the Caribbean, Europe, Asia and North America merge, the greater Miami area is one of the most dynamic regions of the country. Coral Gables hosts hemispheric headquarters of many multi-national corporations and yet, maintains the Mediterranean charm envisioned by its (and the University's) founder, George Merrick, 62 years ago.

ACADEMIC ASSISTANCE

UM class of 1987 graduates, Darryl Oliver and Alonzo Highsmith.

In striving to meet the challenges facing the student-athlete in today's complex society, the University of Miami Athletic Department, along with the Developmental Services Center on campus, has laid the groundwork for a unique academic support program that will serve to enhance the life of the student-athlete. This cooperative effort between the academic and athletic communities reflects the commitment of the entire university to the complete development of the student-athlete.

Academic Coordinator Dr. Anna Price administers the academic support program, which is under the guidance of Associate Athletic Director Bruce Mays and with the support of UM Athletic Director Sam Jankovich. The system has been designed to encourage students of all levels to best prepare themselves for a career after athletics.

"We have a responsibility to help the student-athlete develop his or her full potential both in and out of the classroom, so he leaves the institution with a marketable degree and is ready to deal with the realities of day-to-day society," said Jankovich. "It goes much further than just maintaining academic eligibility and both our coaching staffs and academic support staff fully understand and believe in that."

The recent results of this philosophy have been very impressive. Following the 1985-86 academic year, Miami compiled a graduation rate of just over 60% for all athletic programs. This past year (1986-87), the overall figure reached 72% — while the success rate for the football program exceeded 68% in 1987.

A 1987 survey, conducted by the College Football Association (CFA), disclosed that the graduation percentage of the Hurricane football program was among the nation's leaders in top twenty major college football programs, 36% higher than the national average, and tops among Florida's major college powers.

To ensure the University's continued philosophy of reaching for higher academic standards, the coaches have recruited student-athletes that are as impressive in the classroom as they are on the field and the athletic department has made major increases in its budget for academic support systems — most specifically in the area of tutorial programs. As a result, the ratio between tutors and student-athletes will reach three-to-one in the 1988-89 academic year.

"We want to facilitate the true personal development of the student-athlete by establishing a strong fundamental background," said Dr. Price. "We provide support in helping him develop the balance between academics and athletics as well as proper time management and mental attitude in order to realize and build on his strengths."

In addition to advanced methods of individual and group tutoring, several other vehicles have been set up to acquaint student-athletes with techniques and skills in order to facilitate progress toward graduation. Student-athletes are taught a variety of performance enhancement techniques such as visualization, time management, relaxation skills, goal setting principles and thought-stopping. The use of these skills will benefit the student-athlete academically, athletically, socially and also in terms of their personal growth and development.

Support staff in this area has increased drastically since Jankovich took over as Athletic Director in 1983. Dr. Price is joined by Sports Psychologist, Dr. Jodi Yambor; Dr. Gale Lang, Coordinator of the Study Skills Program; and Steve Carichoff, Academic Support Coordinator.

NICKNAMES, MASCOTS, ETC.

THE HURRICANES — It began in controversy. Some reports say that the '27 squad held a team meeting to select Hurricanes, hoping they would sweep away opponents just as the devastating storm did on September 16, 1926. Another version holds that MIAMI NEWS columnist Jack Bell came out to the field the day before UM's freshman team played Rollins in '26 and asked end Porter Norris what the team should be called. Told that local dignitaries and University officials wanted to name the team for a local flora or fauna, Norris said the players wouldn't stand for it and suggested "Hurricanes" since the opening game had been postponed by such a storm. From time to time, opposition has arisen to the name that would "re-enforce Miami's negative reputation as a weather-beaten community living constantly under the threat of destruction." But as one UM official rationalized in the 60's, "Does anyone think Chicago is overrun by Bears just because the town has a football team by that name?"

ORANGE, GREEN & WHITE — The UM school colors were selected in 1926 by a committee consisting of Ruth Bryan Owens (daughter of famed attorney William Jennings Bryan), Harry Provin and Bertha Foster. Owens was a member of the board of regents and taught speech at the University. From her suggestion, the colors of the Florida orange tree were to represent UM — orange for the fruit itself, green for the leaves and white for the blossom.

THE U — In 1973, the UM Athletic Federation, the then fund-raising arm of the athletic department, commissioned a local public relations expert to develop a distinctive logo.

The University had gone several years with a variety of helmet and uniform changes and the Federation noted that a number of major colleges have the initials UM (three of whom have been on the football schedule the last two years — Maryland, Missouri and Michigan). Miami designer Bill Bodenheimer suggested the U idea, which lent itself to inserting silhouetted athletes in the middle of the U to establish distinctive logos for each sport, as well as slogans like "U gotta believe" and "U is great."

SEBASTIAN THE IBIS — The school yearbook adopted the name "Ibis" with its inception in 1926, and the local marsh bird was considered UM's first unofficial mascot. In 1957 San Sebastian Hall (UM residence hall) sponsored an Ibis entry in the homecoming celebration. The next year, student John Stormont performed at games in a glued, sewn and pinned together costume that was the forerunner of today's bird. Folklore has it that the Ibis, a symbol of knowledge found in the Everglades and Egypt, is the last sign of wildlife to take shelter before a hurricane and the first to reappear after the storm.

OTHER MASCOTS — "Lil' Joe" was a forerunner to the present "Touchdown Tommy" cannon fired by the Sigma Chi fraternity after each UM score; in the 1950's, UM had a boxer named Hurricane that gained national publicity when he sired 11 pups; a canoe, hand-carved from a 200-year old cypress log by Seminole Indians, was donated in 1955 by the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce to be passed back and forth between the winner of the UM-Florida game. Today, the canoe's whereabouts is a mystery.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

The above photo showcases the University of Miami intercollegiate athletic facilities. The Hecht Athletic Center, home of Hurricane athletics, is located at No. 1 Hurricane Drive, Coral Gables, Florida 33146.

1. Mark Light Stadium — completed in 1977, the artificial surface at "The Light" has been home of NCAA World Series Champions in 1982 and '85. One of the nation's most complete facilities, MLS has a seating capacity of 5,000.

2. The Ron Fraser Building — completed in 1987 and located on the grounds of Mark Light Stadium, this structure is named for the "Wizard of College Baseball," Miami's Head Coach Ron Fraser. The plush new facility houses the Hurricane baseball offices, clubhouse, and VIP sky box.

3. The Greentree Track — completed in 1988, this all weather surface has already played host to nearly a dozen Olympic competitors. The six lane track is complete with steeple chase capabilities, four jumping pits, and shot, discus and hammer throw circles.

4. The Knight Sports Complex — completed in 1985, this building houses the practice courts, locker rooms, and coaching offices for the Miami basketball program. The million dollar-plus structure is one of the nation's newest and most complete basketball practice facilities.

5. The Hecht Athletic Center — dedicated in 1979, the Hecht Center houses all the administrative offices within the University of Miami athletic program.

6. The Greentree Practice Fields — the practice home of the 1983 and '87 national football champions.

7. The Neil Schiff Tennis Center — dedicated in 1987, the new home to Miami Tennis is one of the top five collegiate facilities in the nation.

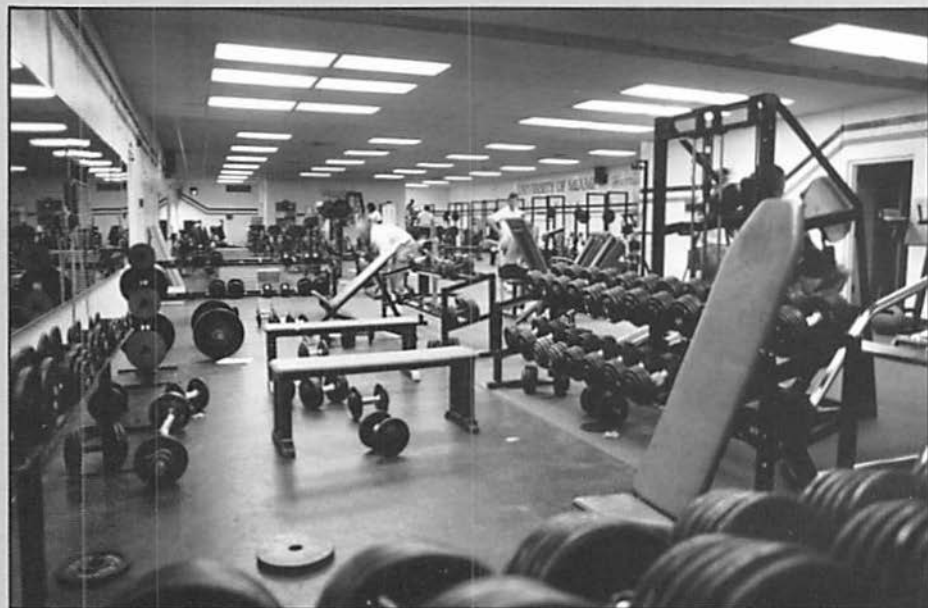

Mark Light Stadium. Built in 1977, "The Light" has been Hurricanes' launching pad to national baseball titles in 1982 and 1985 while playing host to eight NCAA regional tournaments.

Dedicated on May 3, 1987, the Ron Fraser Building, located on the grounds of Mark Light Stadium, houses the entire UM Baseball operation.

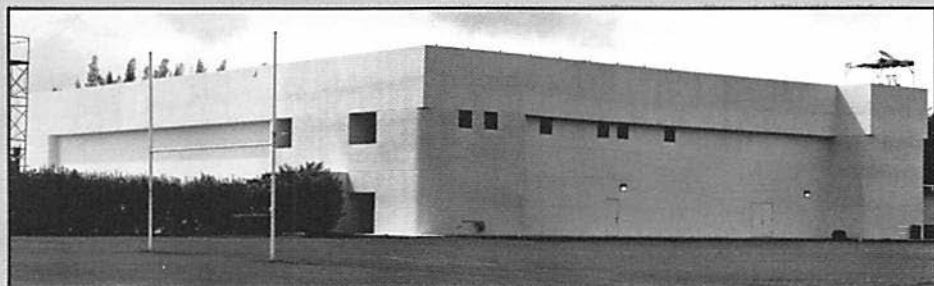

The Neil Schiff Tennis Complex is the UM's most recent athletic addition and the home of the prestigious Ryder-UM Tennis Tournament.

The brand new Miami Arena has become the new home to Miami Basketball...a state of the art structure built exclusively for basketball, the 15,826 seat Miami Arena is the site for basketball in the City that now boasts two teams — The Hurricanes and the Miami Heat of the NBA. Located in downtown Miami near beautiful Biscayne Bay, the Arena is a 15 minute Metrorail ride from the Coral Gables campus.

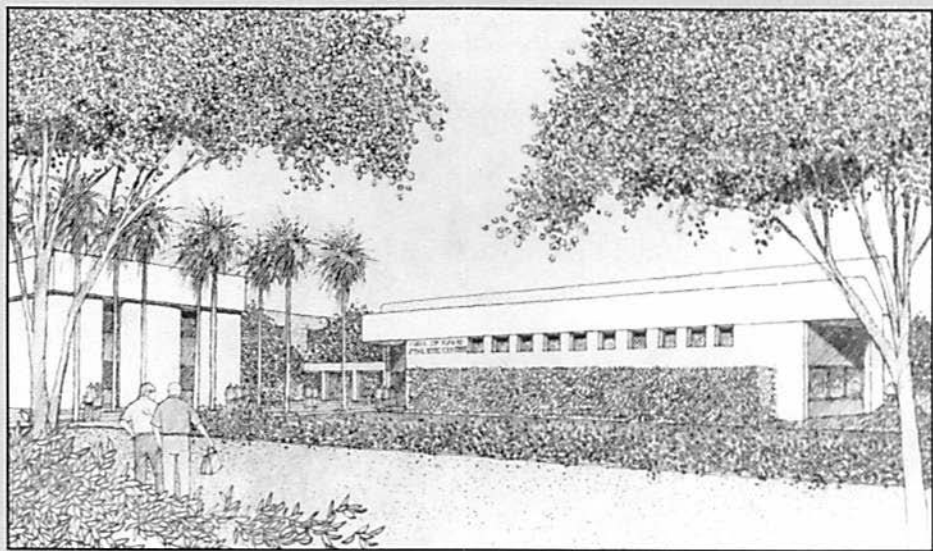

The Knight Sports Complex, bordering the football practice fields, was opened in 1985 and houses the UM Basketball offices. With its addition, the Knight Complex doubled the size of the department's weight facilities and paved the UM's road back into basketball in 1985-86.

Inside the Knight Sports Complex

Located in the heart of the Coral Gables campus, the Norman Whitten Student Union pool has been home for over 385 All-American swimming honors.

The University of Miami Hall of Fame building, located next to the Knight Sports Complex on campus, will open late this year. The building will house monuments to those student-athletes who have attained membership to the Hall and serve as a showplace for the Athletic Department's awards, trophies and plaques. The building will also provide public facilities and concessions for the KSC.

EDWARD T. FOOTE II PRESIDENT, UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

Edward T. Foote, fourth president of the University of Miami, leads one of the nation's youngest private teaching and research universities. Now the largest private university in the Southeast, it is increasingly recognized as a national and international leader.

Since his inauguration in 1981, President Foote has guided the University of Miami during a period of remarkable transition. The University has formed new schools of Architecture, Communication and Graduate International Studies, and the North-South Center; recruited 57 percent of its 1500 member faculty; raised more than $400 million in its fund raising campaign, one of the largest in the history of American higher education; reexamined and reemphasized priorities to stress undergraduate and graduate education as well as research; and entered the select circle of Phi Beta Kappa membership.

Before coming to Miami, President Foote held the following positions at Washington University in St. Louis: Special Advisor to the Chancellor and Board of Trustees (1980-81); Dean of the School of Law, where he taught constitutional law and legal ethics (1973-1980); Vice Chancellor, General Counsel and Secretary to the Board of Trustees (1970-73). From 1966 to 1970, he was an associate in the law firm of Bryan, Cave, McPheeters and McRoberts in St. Louis.

From 1962 to 1965, he worked as a reporter in Washington, D.C., first for the Washington Star, and later, while studying law at the Georgetown University Law Center, for the Washington Daily News. In his last year of law school, he worked as an assistant to the chairman of the Pennsylvania Avenue Commission. Following his 1959 graduation from Yale University, he served until 1962 as an officer in the U.S. Marine Corps.

SAM JANKOVICH ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Just over five years ago, Sam Jankovich accepted the challenge of guiding the University of Miami athletic department. It was a demanding task, an undertaking which would shape the course of Hurricane athletics for years to come.

The challenge would take place during one of the most trying times in the history of intercollegiate athletics — a period where the emphasis on winning, academic excellence, overall competitiveness, and generating revenues has reached an all-time high. The task would be a tough one, but the man appointed to steering the Hurricane athletic fortunes jumped in head first, with his shirt sleeves rolled up and a hard working dedication that has touched just about everyone who has come into contact with the Miami program over that five year stretch.

The results have been significant and positive — and they have come in leaps and bounds since Jankovich first walked through the doors of the Hecht Athletic Center on June 13, 1983.

National championships have been won in successive years like clockwork: football (1983), women's golf (1984), baseball (1985), women's tennis (doubles in 1986), men's tennis (singles in 1987) and football again (1987). The Hurricanes' overall athletic program has reached a Top 10 national ranking, based on national finishes in men's and women's sports results, and a surplus of world class athletes in all phases of the intercollegiate arena have walked through those same doors of the Hecht Center.

Now, the doors of the Miami athletic department are expanding. The broad-based program has seen an increasing emphasis in women's athletics, including a new women's basketball coach in Ferne Labati. There is a new men's golf coach in Chuck Winship, who coached Tampa to consecutive national titles in Division II the last two years. Tournament and event sponsorships are reaching new heights. New horizons have been pursued and conquered in the resurrection of a major college men's basketball program which sat dormant for 14 years until Jankovich built the foundation for its reinstatement in 1984. With the rebirth, came the construction of the 1.1 million dollar Knight Sports Complex which sits adjacent to the Hecht Center and houses the Hurricane men's and women's roundball programs. The sparkling new facility has also enabled the growth of a UM strength room into one of the nation's largest and most complete.

More recently, the Ron Fraser Building was added to the grounds of Mark Light Stadium, complete with dugout, clubhouse and office facilities that make the Hurricanes' baseball home among the most attractive in the country. Last fall, construction of the Neil Schiff Tennis Center was finished and now a plush 1,000-plus seat facility is the home to eight championship courts that have been furnished with top quality tournament lighting.

The refurbishing of the Greentree Track was completed this spring and the newest addition to the Miami collection of outstanding athletic facilities hosted its first championship meet, featuring an international array of Olympians and world record holders.

On the drawing board for the Athletic Complex are a brand new hall of fame building, and a convocation center, to provide space for athletic events as well as classroom activities, lectures, commencement and other student activities. And this year, the men's basketball team will play its home games in the brand new downtown Miami Arena, among the best facilities in the nation.

In subsidizing the growth and expansion of facilities and nationally elite programs, Jankovich has broken new ground in the always challenging areas of funding a major college program within a private institution. In cultivating the support of the South Florida community, Jankovich has overseen the development of the Hurricane Club into a financial foundation that has increased its annual gift total from $750,000 in 1982 to close to $3 million in 1988.

During that time, ticket sales have also made dramatic strides, with 1987 producing all-time highs in football season tickets, total home attendance and average home attendance at the University of Miami.

Additional revenues have been generated through Hurricane appearances on network television at an unprecedented rate. In the past four years, Hurricane football, basketball and baseball teams have made 54 network television appearances. Moreover, the 1987 national championship football team played six of its 12 games in '87 in front of a network TV audience, while the rapidly growing basketball team made five network splashes in only its third year of existence.

In pursuing the department's goal of striving to attain the nation's most outstanding overall athletic program Jankovich added men's and women's varsity crew to the Hurricane roster in 1987 and during that first year of competition, Miami brought home a national championship in the NCAA's novice division.

Though ambitious and determined to compete with the best in the nation, Jankovich has maintained a predominant focus on the importance of the development of the student who is also an athlete. Academic support systems have grown in size, scope and productivity over the past five years, and as a very visible result, the UM athletic department's graduation rate has soared to nearly 70 percent.

That success has earned Jankovich a new five-year contract to guide the fortunes of Miami's athletic department, and a great deal of respect not only locally but on the national level. He is chairman of the NCAA Division 1-A Athletic Directors Television Committee, formulated to review and make recommendations on the current status of college football on television, and was recently elected third Vice President of NACDA, the National Association of College Directors of Athletics. He is also the second vice chair of the Division 1-A Athletic Directors, and is on the NCAA Special Events committee and the College Football Association (CFA) Athletic Directors Committee.

Prior to coming to Miami, Jankovich served as athletic director at Washington State University where he developed a $7.5 million building effort that included new construction and renovation of existing facilities. While competing in the prestigious PAC-10 Conference, his teams participated in their first bowl in 50 years (1981 Holiday Bowl), made two NCAA basketball tournament appearances and captured a conference title in track.

JIMMY JOHNSON UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Some might say success has been sudden for Jimmy Johnson, but he's been successful for a long time as a player, assistant coach and head coach. From captaining the 1964 national champion Arkansas Razorbacks to coaching the 1987 national champion Miami Hurricanes, there have been a lot of wins in between.

At Miami, the 45-year old head coach has been successful 83.7% of the time, winning 41 and losing 8. And over the last three years it's been an even more impressive 33-3, or 91.7%. Under Johnson's tutelage, the Hurricane's have gone to four straight New Year's Bowl games and have battled for the national championship in the last three.

Want more numbers? The Canes have won 32 straight regular season games under Johnson. And they've won their last 19 straight on the road and last 17 consecutive at home.

The true mark of a coach is for his team to show improvement, and Johnson's Canes have improved year-by-year. From 8-5 to 10-2 to 11-1 to 12-0; from being ranked 18th to 8th to 2nd to 1st, there has been constant improvement. Not only on the field but off, where Hurricane student-athletes are now graduating at nearly a 70% level, up from the less than 30% when Johnson arrived.

The Hurricane head coach has truly had a greater impact in just 44 months than any other football coach in the 62-year history of the University of Miami.

JOHNSON'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS

-  41-8 mark at Miami (83.7%) and 71-33-2 (67.9%) overall as head coach.
-  The Hurricanes have only managed two perfect 11-0 seasons in their history, both under Johnson, last year and the year before.
-  His teams have won 32 straight regular season games.
-  19 straight wins on the road, including victories at South Bend, Norman, Tallahassee, Gainesville, Little Rock, Pittsburgh and Foxboro.
-  17 straight wins at home.
-  Has guided the 'Canes to four straight New Year's Day Bowls.
-  Johnson's first Miami team (1984) was ranked 18th, his 2nd was ranked 8th; the 1986 team finished 2nd; and last season's team won the National Championship.
-  Johnson has guided six first team All-Americans in his four years at Miami: Eddie Brown (1984), Willie Smith (1985), Vinny Testaverde, Bennie Blades and Jerome Brown (1986), Bennie Blades and Daniel Stubbs (1987).
-  Nearly half of Johnson's games at Miami have been played against teams that were ranked in the top 20 at the time of the game. J.J.'s teams hold a 15-8 mark vs. top 20 opponents and 26-0 vs. unranked teams. Last season, five of Miami's opponents were ranked in the top 10 at the time of the game—Arkansas, Florida State, Notre Dame, South Carolina and Oklahoma—and a sixth, Florida, was in the top 20. All six went to bowls.
-  Johnson's teams have won 75% of their games against in-state rivals, going 3-1 vs. both Florida and Florida State. His Hurricanes have not lost a game in the State of Florida since September 5, 1985.
-  Under Johnson, the graduation rate for UM football players has risen from less than 30% to nearly 70%.

A three year letterman and All-Southwest Conference selection at Arkansas, Johnson led the Razorback's to two New Year's Day bowl games, before embarking on a coaching career that has taken many successful turns throughout the country.

Brief assistant coaching stints at Louisiana Tech and Wichita State led to Johnson's first assignment as a defensive coordinator—at the ripe age of 25—at Iowa State University under Johnny Majors. From there, he moved to Chuck Fairbanks' Oklahoma staff (1970-72) where he served as the defensive line coach and worked along side current head coaches Barry Switzer (Oklahoma), Galen Hall (Florida) and Larry Lacewell (Arkansas State). After a three year tenure as the defensive coordinator under his college coach Frank Broyles at Arkansas (1973-76), Johnson was named the assistant head coach at the University of Pittsburgh, where he molded one of college football's most feared defensive units ever.

His first head coaching assignment was a five year building mission at Oklahoma State University (1979-83) where he tutored a "middle of the pack" Big 8 team into a program worthy of national respect and prominence. A 30-25-2 record and two Oklahoma State bowl trips in five years preceded Johnson's appointment to the University of Miami on June 5, 1984.

The father of two boys, Brent (24) and Chad (22), Johnson is married to the former Linda Kay Cooper of Marked Tree, Arkansas.

Gary Stevens

Assistant Head Coach/ Offensive Coordinator/ Quarterback Coach

Year on UM Staff: Ninth

The highly explosive University of Miami offense takes its direction from one of the game's most innovative and talented offensive coordinators in the person of Gary Stevens. While holding down the coordinator's post since 1983 — a period of time which includes two national championships — Stevens has tutored the talent that has built the Hurricane offense into one of the nation's most respected and most feared. During his time at Miami, Stevens has helped guide the careers of such UM All-Americans as Eddie Brown, Bernie Kosar, and Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde. Last fall, he tutored unknown Steve Walsh from the sidelines of obscurity to the hot seat at the helm of the national championship. Since Stevens took over the coordinator's responsibilities in the fall of '83, Miami has averaged 33.2 points per game and over 416 yards per game in total offense.

The Hurricane receivers coach from 1980 to 1984, Stevens switched to coaching the quarterbacks in '84, while also adding the duties of assistant head during that same year. Prior to his arrival at Miami, Stevens held assistant coaching positions at West Virginia (1975-79), Kent State (1974-75), and Louisville (1971-74). A native of Cleveland, Ohio, he began his coaching career in the high school ranks in the late 1960's at Benedictine High School and Changel High School in Ohio.

A three-year letterman at running back for John Carroll University, he graduated with a degree in sociology from the Ohio school in 1965. Stevens, 45, is married to the former Rosemarie Cali of Cleveland, and they have five children — Cindy (26), Maria (25), Cheryl (24), Kelly Ann (23) and Gary Ben (18).

Dave Wannstedt Defensive Coordinator/ Linebackers Coach

Year on UM Staff: Third

Since coming to the University of Miami in the spring of 1986, Dave Wannstedt has put together defensive units that have helped the Hurricanes win 23 of 24 games and a national title. During that same short period of time, five UM defenders have achieved some type of All-American recognition, while Jerome Brown (DT in 1986), Bennie Blades (FS in 1986 and '87) and Daniel Stubbs (DE in '87) were all consensus first team All-American selections. Wannstedt, who puts into motion Jimmy Johnson's philosophy of an aggressive and forcing 4-3 scheme, handles the responsibility of guiding the linebackers, where George Mira Jr. became the all-time UM leader in tackles during the 1987 season.

The road to becoming one of the nation's brightest young defensive coordinators has taken Wannstedt through assistant stints at Southern Cal (1983-85), Oklahoma State (1979-82), and his alma mater, The University of Pittsburgh (1975-78).

A four-year letterman at Pitt, Wannstedt captained the 1973 Panther squad that played in the Fiesta Bowl during Johnny Majors' first year as the head coach. As an offensive tackle, he was selected for the North-South All-Star game before being drafted by the Green Bay Packers in 1974.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, he received an undergraduate degree in education from Pitt in 1974 and an M.A. in education at his school the following year.

Hubbard Alexander Receivers Coach

Year on UM Staff: Tenth

Although Miami has achieved a level of unparalleled quarterbacking success in the recent history of college football, the Hurricane passing game would have not accelerated to its perch atop the nation's elite without annually producing top-flight caliber receivers. The man who has dedicated all ten of his years at Miami toward the development of those receivers is Hubbard Alexander. As the tight ends coach (1979-84), "Coach Axe" guided the record setting efforts of Glenn Dennison and All-American Willie Smith. As the wide receivers coach from 1985 on, the Miami aerial game has flown on the wings of Michael Irvin, Brian Blades and Brett Perriman. Under Alexander's guidance, Irvin shattered nearly every one of the receiving standards set by tight ends Dennison and Smith, while Blades and Perriman gave Miami the finest trio of wide receivers in the country.

A native of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Alexander came to Miami by way of Vanderbilt (1974-79), where he was an assistant coach following a successful head coaching career on the high school level in Memphis, Tennessee.

A three-year starter and team captain for Tennessee State, "Axe" earned All-American honors as a senior center before graduating with a degree in history in 1962.

Alexander, 49, is married to the former Gloria De Mire of Memphis, and they have three boys, Todd (22), Chad (13) and Bard (8).

Joe Brodsky Offensive Backfield Coach

Year on UM Staff: Eleventh

In serving more years at Miami than any other member of the current staff, Joe Brodsky has carefully guided the development of several Hurricane running backs who have made great impressions in Coral Gables and in the NFL. His most recent pupil to become a professional stand-out is the Houston Oilers' fullback Alonzo Highsmith. A defensive end throughout his pre-college career, Brodsky helped develop Highsmith into the No. 3 overall selection in the 1987 NFL draft. Two more Brodsky products were taken in the '88 draft as Melvin Bratton was a 6th round selection of the Miami Dolphins and Warren Williams went to the Pittsburgh Steelers in the 6th round.

Starting with Miami's all-time leading rusher, Ottis Anderson, in 1979, nine of Brodsky's backs have been drafted by the NFL. There are now four of Brodsky's former UM backs on active pro rosters, including Albert Bentley, a Hurricane walk-on who has become a star with the Indianapolis Colts after entering the league as a free agent.

Prior to coming to the University, Brodsky was one of South Florida's most successful high school coaches at both Hialeah-Miami Lakes and Jackson High Schools. A four year letterman at Florida in both football and track, Brodsky graduated from UF in 1957 with a B.S. in physical education.

Brodsky, 54, is married to the former Joyce Koumjian of New York City, and they have three sons, Joe 30, Larry 28 (a former UM receiving great), and Jeff 26, and a granddaughter, Amanda Danielle, 1.

Coaching Experience:

Dave Campo

Defensive Backfield Coach

Year on UM Staff: Second

In the spring of 1987, newcomer Dave Campo was charged with the responsibility of directing what many considered the nation's finest secondary. Although an envious thought for those of his peers in the coaching profession, Campo had to face the daily pressure of an extremely high expectation level. By season's end, there was no question that Miami had the nation's best defensive backfield. Dave Campo had disappointed no one — even after losing two starters (Donald Ellis and Darrell Fullington) for most of the season, and under the new coach's leadership, the nation's best secondary became even better.

His prized pupil, Bennie Blades, earned first team All-American honors for the second straight year, while also being named as the co-recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award (recognizing the nation's finest defensive back).

Campo is well traveled in the coaching field with stops at 10 schools over a 16 year career, most recently with Syracuse (1984-86), Iowa State (1983), and Weber State (1981-82).

A four year star in football and baseball at Central Connecticut State, he earned a B.S. in physical education from his alma mater in 1971, and an M.A. from Albany State in 1974.

Butch Davis Defensive Line Coach

Year on UM Staff: Fifth

In the four years that Butch Davis has handled the defensive line duties at Miami, the Hurricanes have sent eight defensive linemen into the NFL draft, while two of those players, Kevin Fagan (49ers) and Jerome Brown (Eagles), have quickly become NFL starters. Hurricane All-American Daniel Stubbs is the newest name in the long legacy of Hurricane defensive line excellence. Stubbs was a second round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers, while his 1987 teammate Derwin Jones was picked by the Seattle Seahawks in the 10th round.

Davis helped guide Brown and Stubbs to consensus first team All-American recognition, while Brown was a Lombardi Award finalist, and Stubbs was an Outland Trophy and Lombardi finalist.

Davis' defensive line units have been the rock solid foundation of the nationally ranked Hurricane defenses that have helped the 'Canes roll to a 33-3 record over the past three years. Last season, Miami limited its opponents to just 2.3 yards per rushing attempt and 2.8 in 1986. The 'Canes have also shattered school records for sacks by averaging over 45 QB baggings in each of the past three seasons.

An assistant on the major college level since 1979, Davis has coached in six post season bowl games. He served as an assistant under Jimmy Johnson for four years at Oklahoma State before coming to Miami with the UM head coach. Davis was a two year letterman at Arkansas, where he earned a B.S. in anatomy and physiology in 1974. Davis, 36, is married to Tammy Townsend of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Art Kehoe

Assistant Offensive Line Coach

Year on UM Staff: Fourth

A constant figure in the unprecedented University of Miami football success throughout the 1980's, Art Kehoe has made six bowl trips with the 'Canes as a player (co-captain of the 1980 Peach Bowl team), graduate assistant coach (1983 national championship Orange Bowl team and '84 Fiesta Bowl squad), and as a full-time assistant for the past three seasons (1985 Sugar, '86 Fiesta, and '87 national championship Orange Bowl). As an enthusiastic and knowledgeable player and coach, Kehoe has been an integral part of Miami's 82-24 record since his arrival as a junior college transfer in 1979.

Over the past three years he has dedicated his efforts toward the development of one of the nation's most productive and versatile offensive lines. Last year's unit permitted an amazingly low number of just 13 sacks, while the 1986 group was instrumental in providing the pass protection for Heisman Trophy winning quarterback Vinny Testaverde and opening the holes for fullback Alonzo Highsmith (No. 3 overall NFL draft pick 1987).

The youngest member of the Miami coaching staff, Kehoe, 31, is a native of Conshohocken, Pennsylvania in the Philadelphia area. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Miami in 1982.

- 1985-1988 Assistant Coach, University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida

Don Solderinger Tight Ends Coach

Year on UM Staff: Fifth

Charged with the responsibility of developing a new crop of qualified performers at the tight end post, Don Solderinger (SAUL—injer) enters his fifth year on the Hurricane staff. Last fall, he balanced playing time between two top flight tight ends in Charles Henry and Alfredo Roberts (8th round selection by the Kansas City Chiefs). Both seniors showcased their solid skills for the second straight season. In the past two years, the pair had combined for 57 catches for 663 yards and six touchdowns, while the tight end position has remained a consistent threat in the Miami offense under Solderinger's guidance.

In his first two seasons at Miami Solderinger tutored the linebackers, where he worked with honorable mention All-American Bruce Fleming (1984) and George Mira (1985).

Solderinger came to Miami in the spring of 1984 after a highly successful head coaching career at Miami's Southridge High School where he put the Spartan program on the map as one of the state's perennial powers. His 1979 team advanced to the state semi-finals before falling to Merritt Island, and the 1983 team lost to Manatee in the state finals. While at Southridge, Solderinger coached former UM defensive end Winston Moss (currently with the Tampa Bay Bucs) and current Hurricane defensive lineman Earnest Parish.

A 1968 graduate of Memphis State with a degree in physical education, he also holds an M.S. in reading education from Nova (1982).

A Miami Beach native, Solderinger, 43, is married to the former Phyllis Imber of Miami, and they have two boys, Joel (18) and Jeffrey (16).

Coaching Experience:

1984-1988 Assistant Coach, University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida

Tony Wise Offensive Line Coach

Year on UM Staff: Fourth

Faced with having to start three players at new positions on the offensive line just days before the 1987 national championship game, Tony Wise reshaped a Miami unit that performed against the Oklahoma Sooners like a well-oiled group of seasoned veterans. Wise's skillful handling of last year's Orange Bowl task is a prime example of why Jimmy Johnson calls this Albany, New York native "the best offensive line coach I've ever been around." For three seasons, Wise has been tinkering with the pieces of the UM offensive line, and with each year, he has successfully come up with the best combinations for the challenges at hand.

With three starters lost to graduation from the 1986 unit—including All-American center Greg Rakoczy—Wise rebuilt an '87 crew that permitted fewer Hurricane sacks (an amazing 13) than any other Hurricane group in the 1980's.

Wise came to Miami after successful major college assistant coaching stints at Syracuse (1984), Oklahoma State (1979-83), Pitt (1977-78), and Washington State (1976).

A three-sport letterman in football, lacrosse, and hockey at Ithaca College, Wise earned a degree in physical education from the New York school in 1973. He also earned an M.A. in physical education from the University of Bridgeport in 1975, while serving as an assistant football coach at the Connecticut school.

Wise, 36, is single.

HURRICANE NOTES

MIAMI OFFENSE

- Miami scored 392 points in 1987, the third-best total in school history behind the 420 points tallied last season and the 395 in 1985.
- Miami scored in 40 of its 44 quarters last season, missing only in the second period of the Florida State game, the fourth stanza vs. Toledo, the first quarter vs. Notre Dame and the third quarter against South Carolina.
- The Hurricanes scored three more touchdowns on the ground (24) than via the air (21) in 1987. The last time the UM recorded more TD's rushing than passing was during the 1983 National Championship season (18 rushing, 17 passing).
- The Hurricanes made the most of their scoring opportunities in 1987, tallying scores in 62 of 130 possessions (47.7%).
- Head Coach Jimmy Johnson's halftime talks prompted the 'Canes to scoring drives on the first possession of the second half in six of the 11 games last year (two field goals and four touchdowns).
- Miami set a new school record last year with just seven fumbles lost in the 11-0 season. Overall, the 'Canes committed just 16 turnovers (nine interceptions and seven fumbles) and produced a turnover ratio of plus-10.
- The Hurricane offense set a new school record with 33 first downs in Miami's 48-10 victory over Cincinnati.
- Three Miami running backs went over the 100-yard rushing mark vs. Cincinnati last season — Leonard Conley (8 for 120), Melvin Bratton (16 for 114) and Warren Williams (20 for 101). It was the first time three 'Canes had passed the 100-yard rushing barrier in a single game since Oct. 11, 1974 vs. Pacific when two running backs and a QB led a school record 498-yard rushing attack.
- Miami scored 30 points in the second quarter vs. Miami (Ohio), a new UM record for points in a single quarter.

MIAMI DEFENSE

- The Hurricanes allowed just 111 points last season, only five more than the 11-game school record of 106 allowed by the 1983 National Championship team.
- Miami opponents converted just 21 of 135 possessions into scoring drives last season (15.6%).
- The Hurricane defense forced 26 turnovers in 1987 (15 pass interceptions and 11 fumble recoveries). With the UM offense's 16 turnovers, Miami's turnover ratio stood at plus-10 for the 1987 season.
- The Miami defense allowed just 23 second-half points, including two touchdowns, in its last seven games of 1987 (3.3 per game). And 14 of those (both TD's) came in one game (vs. Toledo).

MISCELLANEOUS

- Miami enters 1988 riding a 32-game regular season winning streak, the longest current mark in the nation and the eighth longest stretch in the history of the NCAA. The last UM loss was to Florida (35-23) in Vinny Testaverde's debut as starting quarterback on Sept. 7, 1985. That loss also marked Miami's last loss at home in the Orange Bowl, a win string that stands at 18 straight games (including the 1988 Orange Bowl Classic).
- The Hurricanes enter 1988 riding a 16-game regular season win streak in night games.
- With victories in its last 12 consecutive games, Miami boasts the longest current win streak in the NCAA.

- Miami finished its third straight unbeaten season on the road last year. The 'Canes enter 1988 having won 19 in a row on the road, dating back to a Sept. 8, 1984 loss at Michigan.
- The Hurricanes have appeared in five consecutive New Year's Bowls. A claim that only Nebraska can match.
- Nearly half of Jimmy Johnson's games at Miami have been played against teams that were ranked in the top 20 at the time of the game. Johnson's overall record at the UM is 41-8 (83.7%). J.J. holds a 15-8 mark vs. Top 20 teams and is 26-0 against teams that were unranked.
- Last season, Miami played five teams that were ranked in the Top 10 at the time of the game — Arkansas, Florida State, Notre Dame, South Carolina and Oklahoma. A sixth opponent — Florida — was in the Top 20. All six of those teams participated in postseason bowl games.
- The Hurricanes 1987 11-0 regular season record marked only the third undefeated regular season in UM history. The very first UM football team, an all-freshmen squad in 1926, finished 8-0 while the 1986 squad also wound up at 11-0.
- Since 1980, the Hurricanes have appeared on network television 36 times, compiling an outstanding 31-5 record. Last season, the 'Canes were on WTBS vs. Florida, ESPN vs. Arkansas and South Carolina, CBS against Florida State and Notre Dame, and NBC vs. Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl Classic.
- The Hurricanes set new attendance records at home both in total attendance (377,444 in seven dates) and average attendance (53,920 per game). The average attendance mark ranked the Hurricanes No. 28 in the country among the 104 Division I schools. Among schools playing in cities with NFL teams, the Hurricanes ranked third in the nation behind the University of Washington (Seattle Seahawks) and UCLA (Los Angeles Raiders).
- Over the last five years, Miami holds the No. 1 winning percentage in the NCAA (including bowl games) with an amazing 85.2 mark (52-9). Oklahoma is second with an 84.2 winning percentage (50-8-1) while Nebraska is third with an 83.6 (51-10).

NCAA ELIGIBILITY RULES/RECRUITING*

Initial Eligibility for Division I

Bylaw 5-1-(i) (Formerly Proposition 48)

To be eligible for practice, intercollegiate competition, athletically related financial aid, or other financial aid administered by the University — a prospective student-athlete must meet all of the following requirements:

- a. Graduate from high school.
- b. Attain a minimum grade-point average of 2.00 (based upon a maximum of 4.00) in a successfully completed core curriculum of at least 11 academic courses.
- c. Achieve a 700 combined score on the SAT verbal and math sections or a 15 composite on the ACT.

Recruiting Dates/Personnel

In-person recruiting contacts initiated by institutional staff members shall be permissible in football only between December 1 and the Saturday following the initial day for signing the National Letter of Intent (normally the second Saturday in February).

Contact can be made by institutional staff members only (no contact by alumni or boosters).

Official Visits

The athlete is permitted visits to five separate institutions. All visits paid by the institution must be made to the campus or the school's designated home facility and not, for example, an off-campus site where the institution may be appearing in an athletics contest at the particular time.

A prospective student-athlete may make no more than one paid visit to an institution's campus. Such visits may not exceed 48 hours.

A prospective student-athlete may visit an institution's campus at the prospect's own expense as often as the prospect wishes. Such expenses include transportation and any meals.

Seasons of Competition

A student-athlete shall not engage in more than four seasons of intercollegiate competition.

The student-athlete shall complete his seasons of participation (practice and/or competition) within five calendar years from the beginning of the semester or quarter in which the student-athlete first registers as a full-time student at any collegiate institution (including junior colleges).

Time spent in the armed services, on official church missions or recognized foreign services of the U.S. government may be excepted. Other limited exceptions may exist for official Pan American and Olympic training tryouts and competition, and incapacitating injury or illness.

Redshirting

Any participation during a season of competition in an intercollegiate sport, regardless of time, shall be counted as a season of competition in that sport.

A student-athlete may be granted an additional year of competition by the conference or the institution for reasons of "hardship" which is defined as that incapacity resulting from injury or illness under the following conditions:

The incapacitation occurs when the student-athlete has not participated in more than 20 percent of the completed events in his or her sport or has not participated in more than two of the institution's completed events in that sport, whichever number is greatest, provided the injury or illness occurred prior to the completion of the first half of the season in that sport and resulted in incapacity to compete for the remainder of the traditional playing season.

This provision shall be administered by the member conferences of the NCAA or, in the case of an independent member institution, by the NCAA Eligibility Committee.

1987 GAME-BY-GAME

September 5 at Miami
Miami 31, Florida 4

TBS

Question marks surrounded the once surefire Hurricane offense as Miami entered the final meeting between the UM and Florida until 1992 with an inexperienced quarterback and an unproven offensive line. Sophomore Steve Walsh's poise and icy nerves soon quashed all doubts with a 23-yard strike to Brian Blades in the first quarter topped off by another connection to Blades for the two-point conversion. Greg Cox provided the 'Canes with a deadly accurate kicking performance that produced three straight field goals through the second and third quarters. Randy Shannon put the lid on Florida's coffin, and then Heisman-hopeful Kerwin Bell, with a 41-yard interception return for a touchdown before Cleveland Gary nailed it down with a 14-yard scamper in the final stanza. The only points the Gators could muster were on two errant punt snaps by Miami that went out of the endzone for safeties. Walsh finished with 234 yards on 17 completions in 27 attempts while the UM defense crushed Bell with three interceptions and seven sacks forcing him to leave the game early with a separated shoulder. Donald Ellis led the Hurricane defense with two second-half interceptions, both in the UM endzone.

Head Coach Jimmy Johnson didn't expect the Razorbacks to throw a welcome home party when he returned to his alma mater, so Johnson brought his own fireworks with him. The Hurricanes dominated the game early, scoring 38 first-half points on four touchdown drives of over 50 yards, including a three-play, 95-yard lightning bolt capped off by Warren Williams' 49-yard TD run. Johnson began flooding in the reserves in the second quarter with no letdown in production. Freshman Leonard Conley tallied his first career touchdown on a 15-yard scamper and rookie Craig Erickson engineered a 49-yard drive that produced the first of three consecutive Greg Cox field goals. Erickson later rifled a five-yard shot to Andre Brown for the QB's first collegiate passing touchdown. Arkansas did manage to score on the UM's second-team with three minutes remaining in the contest, marking the first points against the 'Canes defense in '87. Warren Williams finished the day with 108 yards and two touchdowns on the ground. A national TV audience witnessed the Hurricanes flex their might in the worst defeat ever for the Razorbacks in Little Rock—a loss that knocked then No. 10-ranked Arkansas clean out of the Top-20.

Junior outside linebacker Rod Carter racked up 12 tackles in Miami's 51-7 win over Arkansas.

CBS

No. 3 Miami traveled to Tallahassee to take on the No. 4 Florida State Seminoles a team that many still believe is FSU's finest team ever. Florida State threatened first with what would have been a 40-yard field goal attempt, but an errant snap from center turned into a six-point swing as Miami converted the mistake into a 29-yard Greg Cox field goal and a 3-0 lead. The turnabout was indicative of FSU's fortunes on the day as the Seminoles dominated play for nearly three quarters—producing five drives inside the UM 30 that resulted in just 13 points. With the aid of a blocked punt return for a touchdown by Alphonso Williams, FSU settled for a 19-3 lead late in the third quarter. Suddenly, the 'Canes awoke with a 49-yard touchdown pass from Steve Walsh to Melvin Bratton and a 26-yard strike to Michael Irvin that was set up by All-American Dan Stubbs' interception. Miami topped off both scores with two-point conversions to tie the score at 19. The 'Canes' other All-American, Bennie Blades, followed with a key fumble recovery on the UM 17 that turned into a 73-yard touchdown strike from Walsh to Irvin, but FSU drove the length of the field with just over a minute remaining to set up a two-point conversion attempt in an all-or-nothing situation. Reserve back Bubba McDowell rose to the occasion, and Danny McManus's pass attempt, knocking down the ball in the endzone and securing Miami's 26-25 victory.

THE PLAY—Junior wide receiver Michael Irvin races 73 yards with the deciding touchdown catch in the fourth quarter of the Hurricanes' 26-25 victory at Florida State.

October 10 at Miami Miami 46, Maryland 16

With the stormy outskirts of an actual hurricane swirling through the Orange Bowl, the Miami Hurricanes battled the elements, their own miscues and the University of Maryland to the UM's fourth straight win. Bubba McDowell blocked two punts in the first half of play, the first of which was scooped up by Bennie Blades and returned for a touchdown to give Miami an early 7-0 lead. Hurricane snapper Willis Peguese put the Terps on the board with a safety by firing a punt snap out of the endzone but Miami came back with a 1-yard TD plunge by Melvin Bratton following an errant punt snap by Maryland. The Terps broke into the end zone on Mike Anderson's 13-yard scamper before Greg Cox sent the UM into halftime with a 17-8 lead with a 22-yard field goal. Miami broke the contest open in the second half with two TD runs by Cleveland Gary and another by QB Steve Walsh before Maryland put up their final points with a 15-yard TD reception by Azizuddin Abdur-Ra'ooof. The 'Canes' final drive was highlighted by a 37-yard strike from freshman QB Craig Erickson to tight end Mike Pigza followed by Erickson hitting Andre Brown in the endzone. Wide receiver Michael Irvin recorded four catches on the evening, moving into the No. 1 position as Miami's all-time leading receiver.

October 24 at Cincinnati, OH Miami 48, Cincinnati 10

WPLG

The Cincinnati Bearcats gave the Hurricanes a warm welcome in a cold and rainy Riverfront Stadium by jumping out to a 10-7 lead early in the second quarter. However, any hope of a major upset by UC was soon extinguished in the downpour as Miami's ground game went into overdrive. Warren Williams bolted in from three yards out following a 68-yard drive that was keyed by Melvin Bratton runs of 18 and 21 yards. Greg Cox tagged on a 40-yard field goal to put the 'Canes up 17-10 at the half. Randal Hill started the 'Canes off in the second half with a 49-yard punt return to set up a 46-yard touchdown drive. Brian Blades accounted for the six points on a pass from Steve Walsh, but it was Warren Williams who was the UM workhorse, picking up 30 yards on five straight carries. Bolstered by the Miami running game, Walsh connected with Charles Henry for another third-quarter TD before Leonard Conley tallied two touchdowns on the ground and Greg Cox added a 30-yard field goal. Three Miami running backs broke the 100-yard barrier—Leonard Conley, 120, Melvin Bratton, 114, Warren Williams, 101—for the first time in 13 years as the 'Canes racked up 384 yards on ground. Defensively, Bennie Blades set a new UM mark with his 17th career interception and Jimmie Jones recorded eight tackles and two quarterback sacks.

Native Floridians gone north. Alfredo Roberts (Ft. Lauderdale), Melvin Bratton (Miami), Warren Williams (Ft. Myers) and Randy Bethel (Vero Beach) huddle for warmth at Riverfront Stadium in the waning moments of Miami's 48-10 win over Cincinnati.

October 31 at Greenville, NC Miami 41, East Carolina 3

WPLG

Quarterback Steve Walsh drew first in the showdown at high noon with 63 of 75 yards in the air on the UM's opening possession capped off by a five-yard touchdown reception by Brian Blades. Miami was tabbed with three penalties on East Carolina's first possession, helping the Pirates set up a 19-yard Chuck Berleth field goal and a staunch ECU defense held UM to just one more score in the first half— a 4-yard TD pass from Walsh to Leonard Conley—to make the score 14-3 at the intermission. Defensive end Bill Hawkins' fumble recovery on the opening play of the third quarter was followed by an 18-yard touchdown run by Warren Williams on the following play. The quick thrust broke the Pirates' spirit and Miami breezed to the victory with Brian Blades' second TD reception of the day, a four-yard Cleveland Gary run, and field goals of 23 and 52 yards by Greg Cox, the second of which was a career-high for Cox. Defensively, reserve middle linebacker Bernard Clark filled in for the injured George Mira with 19 total tackles, a mark that was matched by weak side backer Rod Carter while Bennie Blades came up with 17 stops after seeing limited action with a bruised shoulder. The victory marked the 19th consecutive regular season road win for Miami and the third straight year the 'Canes have gone undefeated on the road.

November 7 at Miami Miami 54, Miami (Ohio) 3

Miami and Miami squared off in the "Confusion Bowl" but the Hurricanes left little doubt as to which team was among the nation's elite. Early in the second quarter, Steve Walsh tossed an 18-yard strike to Warren Williams to begin the Hurricane onslaught. George Mira recovered a fumble on the 'Skins next possession and Walsh came back with a 11-yard touchdown pass to Michael Irvin to give the 'Canes 14 points in one minute and 14 seconds. The visitors from Ohio reeled as Earnest Parrish sacked Redskin QB Mark Kuzma in the endzone, Walsh tallied another touchdown aerial, this time a nine-yarder to Cleveland Gary, and Warren Williams scampered across the goal line from five yards out. When the dust had cleared, the Hurricanes had scored a school record 30 points in the second quarter. Melvin Bratton kept the fires burning in the third quarter by taking a short toss from Walsh before weaving through a crowd of Redskins for a 35-yard touchdown. The shake-and-bake scamper made Bratton the UM's all-time leader for touchdowns with 26. Bratton and Gary each added another six-pointer in the final period before the 'Skins' Gary Gussman kept alive his string of scoring at least one point in every game by connecting on a 44-yard field goal on the game's final play.

Senior All-American defensive end Daniel Stubbs prepares to wrap up one of his three sacks vs. the Miami (OH) Redskins.

November 14 at Miami Miami 27, Virginia Tech 13

Sustained drives by both teams on the ground gave Miami the ball just twice in the opening quarter, producing only three points on a 26-yard field goal from Greg Cox. In the second stanza, a partially blocked punt gave Virginia Tech the ball in Hurricane territory and the Hokies soon took a 7-3 lead on a 24-yard pass from Nick Cullen to Jon Jeffries. Miami returned with an 82-yard drive capped off by Michael Irvin's 25th career touchdown reception, an 18-yarder from Steve Walsh. The Hokies answered the UM's volley with a 10-play drive that ended with a 31-yard Chris Kinzer field goal that tied the score at ten on the half's final play. The two squads traded field goals in the third quarter and a nervous Orange Bowl crowd encouraged Miami to take charge in the fourth quarter. The 'Canes responded with a grinding 80-yard drive that nearly ended in tragedy for the UM. Melvin Bratton had the ball stripped loose on one of his patented over-the-top touchdown dives, but an offsides penalty cost VPI the touchback and Bratton scooted around the end for the TD on the next play. Alfredo Roberts added an insurance touchdown reception in the last minute of play to seal victory No. 8 for Miami. For the UM defense, seniors George Mira and Bennie Blades each recorded 8 tackles while Daniel Stubbs, Bill Hawkins and Randy Shannon tallied QB sacks.

November 21 at Miami Miami 24, Toledo 14

Miami Athletic Director Sam Jankovich accepted the bid to play Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 1st, but Toledo had come to Miami to play in its own bowl game on Nov. 21st. The Hurricanes struggled offensively, relying on Greg Cox's 41-yard field goal in the first quarter before moving ahead 10-0 on Cleveland Gary's 1-yard pass from Steve Walsh in the second stanza. Maurice Crum gave Miami some much needed breathing room with a 15-yard return of an intercepted fumble and the 'Canes entered the locker room with a 17-0 halftime lead. Undaunted, the Rockets shot out of locker room with a 66-yard drive that ended in a one-yard plunge by Mark Melfi. Miami appeared to be taking control with a 67-yard drive late in the third quarter capped off by Melvin Bratton's 29th career TD to make the score 24-6. But Toledo bounced right back with a 14-play touchdown drive that ate up nearly eight minutes on the clock, and Neil Trotter went over for the two-point conversion to cut the UM lead to 10. The 'Canes battled Toledo to a stalemate for the final nine minutes to preserve the victory, however, an injury list that included ten starters left Miami battered and bruised for the next matchup against Notre Dame.

The Fighting Irish came back to Miami to avenge a 58-7 defeat by the Hurricanes in 1985, but the 'Canes had other plans for eventual Heisman winner Tim Brown and company. Miami faltered on the first quarter's only scoring threat when Melvin Bratton's fumble was recovered by ND's Wes Pritchett on the Irish one-yard line. Not to be denied, the UM defense gave up just one yard and Bratton came back eight plays later with a two-yard TD scamper. Bennie Blades' 19th career interception halted Notre Dame's next drive and Greg Cox soon converted on a 30-yard field goal to give Miami a 10-0 lead at the half. Alex Johnson opened the second half with a 60-yard kickoff return, but Miami again fumbled the ball away to the Irish, this time on the ND 11. With the Hurricane defense manhandling Notre Dame, Warren Williams sparked the offense with a 29-yard screen pass on the opening play of a 69-yard drive. Once again, it was Bratton going in for the final yard and Miami held a commanding 17-0 lead in the third quarter. Leonard Conley gave the Irish a brief glimpse of the future in the final stanza with five carries for 34 yards on a drive capped off by his own six-yard touchdown run for the game's final tally. George Mira led the impregnable UM defense with a career-high 21 tackles. Miami did not allow the Irish past the UM 28 yard line all day en route to Notre Dame's first blanking since the 'Canes shut down ND 20-0 in 1983.

Sophomore defensive tackle Greg Mark recorded six tackles, a sack, and this broken pass in leading the Hurricanes to an impressive 24-0 shutout over Notre Dame on November 28.

ESPN

Some rare "football weather" hit Miami as the No. 8 Gamecocks and No. 2 Hurricanes squared off in a cool 58 degree evening in the Orange Bowl. USC charged out with its "run and shoot" offense and tallied first with a 40-yard field goal by Collin Mackie. South Carolina's "Black Death" defense then sacked Steve Walsh on the 'Canes' first play, forcing a fumble that was recovered by USC's Roy Hart. Defensive tackle Greg Mark answered with a sack of Gamecock QB Todd Ellis on the next play and USC was forced to settle for another Mackie field goal, this one from 48 yards out. The battle heated up as Michael Irvin took advantage of USC's single coverage and broke loose for a 46-yard touchdown strike from Walsh to put Miami on top 7-6 after the opening stanza. Ellis returned the volley early in the second period with a 47-yard TD pass to Sterling Sharpe. Miami's next possession was one of the season's highlights. Walsh began with a 42-yard strike to Michael Irvin that set up an apparent 47-yard field goal attempt by Greg Cox. But holder Jeff Feagles recognized a flaw in the USC alignment and audibled for a fake. Feagles found the hole and streaked to the Gamecock six-yard line to set up a four-yard touchdown run by Melvin Bratton. On Miami's second possession of the third quarter, the Hurricanes struck like lightning as Walsh hit Brian Blades on a 56-yard first down pass play that put the 'Canes up 20-13. A 28-yard field goal by Mackie brought USC within four points early in the fourth quarter, but the Gamecocks would get no closer as a George Mira interception highlighted a wild fourth quarter of play.

UM BOWL HISTORY

ORANGE BOWL

Miami 20, Oklahoma 14

Miami, FL, Jan. 1, 1988 — For the second time in five years, the University of Miami Hurricanes were champions of the college football world. And, just as they had done in 1983, the '87 'Canes knocked off the nation's No. 1 ranked team in the New Year's Day Orange Bowl Classic.

The No. 2 ranked Hurricane squad capped the school's second straight undefeated regular season with a thorough 20-14 domination of the Sooners, giving Miami head coach Jimmy Johnson his third consecutive win over OU in as many years. Successive Miami wins over Oklahoma in each of the past three seasons remain the only blemishes on the Sooners' records.

The Hurricanes' biggest game of the year brought about heroic efforts from several players. Sophomore quarterback Steve Walsh hit on 18 of 30 passing attempts for 209 yards and two touchdowns. Senior fullback Melvin Bratton nearly broke a UM single game receiving mark by hauling in nine catches for 102 yards before leaving with a serious knee injury. Last minute substitute Bernard Clark stepped into the spotlight at middle linebacker, and walked away with the game's MVP award after recording 12 unassisted tackles and 14 overall stops, while the entire defensive unit limited the Sooners to just 255 yards in total offense.

Orange Bowl MVP Bernard Clark (57) recorded 14 total tackles in leading the Hurricane defensive effort in Miami's second national championship triumph.

The Miami offense broke cleanly and quickly from the starting gate by taking the game's first possession 65 yards for a score. Walsh fired a perfect 30-yard rainbow to Bratton who had slipped past the Oklahoma secondary for the touchdown with just over three minutes gone in the game.

The Hurricane defense set the tone early for an evening of frustration for the Sooners' vaunted wishbone attack. Oklahoma was forced to punt on its first five possessions of the half, while the deepest OU penetration on any of those drives was the Miami 44 yard line.

The persistent Sooners, however, got on the scoreboard just before the half, after a Steve Walsh pass was intercepted by Rickey Dixon, and the OU offense was set up at mid-field. Fifteen plays later, Oklahoma cracked the Miami goal line on a one yard run by halfback Anthony Stafford with just :09 remaining in the half.

In seven second half possessions, Oklahoma was able to produce only two drives of more than four plays, while the Miami offense was controlling the ball and the tempo of the game at will. The Hurricanes' first two drives of the second half accounted for 24 plays and two scores.

Senior placekicker Greg Cox hit the biggest three pointer of his life from 56 yards out with 8:52 remaining in the third quarter. Cox' effort came on Miami's first possession of the second half, and established a new Orange Bowl Classic record.

Three OU plays and a punt set up a Hurricane drive that all but broke the spirit of the Big 8 Conference Champions. Miami took the ball through a driving downpour and the Sooner defense for 64 yards on 13 plays and a 23 yard Walsh to Michael Irvin touchdown pass that brought the score to 17-7. The pivotal play in the drive came on a fourth-and-four situation at the Oklahoma 29 yard-line. All of the 74,760 in attendance expected the 'Canes to attempt a 45-yard field goal — especially after Cox had hammered home a 56 yarder between the same west end zone uprights just minutes earlier. But Jimmy Johnson calmly ordered the offensive unit to stay on the field, and the Hurricane coach rolled the dice to the tune of a six-yard Walsh-to-Bratton completion that kept the drive alive.

With just under four minutes remaining in the game, Cox punctuated the Hurricane scoring with another long bomb — this time hitting from 48 yards out and putting the game out of reach. Oklahoma countered with a 29 yard scoring run on a trick play, as Sooner offensive guard Mark Huston rambled into the end zone after picking up a deliberate fumble by quarterback Charles Thompson. The Oklahoma trickery — with 2:05 remaining in the game — was simply too little too late.

As the Orange Bowl clock expired, Jimmy Johnson was given a Gatorade victory shower by his players and was then hoisted high into the Miami night air on the shoulders of his victorious Hurricanes. Shortly after midnight on the morning of January 2, the Miami Hurricanes were crowned national champions, and a celebration that touched thousands throughout South Florida was quickly underway.

FIESTA BOWL

Penn State 14, Miami 10

Tempe, AZ, Jan 2, 1987—Months of anticipation preceded this classic matchup between the country's top two undefeated teams. A national television audience tuned in the prime time NBC broadcast of the "Battle For No. 1" one day following the completion of all other bowl games.

The Hurricane "Sack Attack" charged out of the blocks with two baggings of Penn State quarterback John Shaffer and the Lions were forced to punt after being pushed back 17 yards on the game's opening drive.

Miami's offense took the field and drove 44 yards to the Penn State 29 before failing to convert on a fourth and three situation. The two opening series were indicative of the tone of the contest. In the first quarter, the UM defense stymied the Nittany Lions, allowing just 12 yards and one first down, while the 'Canes' offense racked up 135 yards and six first downs without putting any points on the scoreboard.

UM's defense provided the key play in the second stanza when Jerome Brown knocked the ball loose from John Shaffer into the waiting hands of Miami's Bill Hawkins. The Hurricanes moved in quickly with two eight-yard carries by Alonzo Highsmith and a seven-yard strike to Charles Henry from Vinny Testaverde that set up Melvin Bratton's dive over the top for the opening touchdown.

Penn State countered with a 74-yard drive, sparked by the running of D. J. Dozier, to tie the score at 7-7 going into halftime.

The night of frustration continued for Miami in the second half with offensive drives in the third quarter to the Penn State 21 and 12 yard lines that failed to produce any points. Meanwhile, the UM defense was impregnable, holding the Lions in their own territory for the entire stanza.

The 'Canes looked to take control in the fourth quarter with a 47-yard drive that produced a 38-yard Mark Seelig field goal to put Miami up 10-7. Following the kickoff, the UM again shut down Penn State's offense only to have the Lions' Shane Conlon intercept a Testaverde pass on Miami's next series and return it to the Hurricane 5-yard line. Dozier bulled over the goal line as the lead changed hands for the first and final time of the contest.

While the nation nervously watched, the Hurricanes found themselves 77-yards from the national championship with just over three minutes remaining to play. Testaverde went to work and engineered a thrilling drive that included a 31-yard strike to Brian Blades on a fourth-and-six play from Miami's own 27.

The pass to Blades was the first of six consecutive completions by Testaverde that brought Miami all the way to Penn State's six yard line. However, with 18 seconds remaining, Lion Pete Giftopoulos ended the UM's drive for the national title by intercepting a Testaverde pass at the goal line.

The Hurricanes finished with 445 total yards and 22 first downs while holding Penn State to Fiesta Bowl records of 162 yards and just eight first downs, but seven turnovers tripped the 'Canes on the road to the national title and Miami settled for a final ranking of second in both the AP and UPI polls.

SUGAR BOWL

Tennessee 35, Miami 7

New Orleans, LA, Jan. 1, 1986—Amid the revelry of New Orleans' Bourbon Street, two teams, with a vastly different motivation to succeed, met in the Louisiana Superdome for one of the most celebrated of the New Year's Day bowls.

The 1985 Sugar Bowl had it all. Miami, with one of the most dominate offenses in college football, was shooting for the national championship. The Volunteers, a much underrated team, who rolled into New Orleans with a hardfought Southeastern Conference title, were looking for the national respect they felt had eluded them.

The week prior to the game, UM Coach Jimmy Johnson constantly stressed that the Volunteers were better than their No. 8 national ranking. Much to his chagrin, Johnson proved to be a prophet, as Tennessee used a solid offense and an opportunistic defense to down the second-ranked Hurricanes, 35-7.

The game started out much like the experts had envisioned and in a way Miami fans had become accustomed to seeing all year. Vinny Testaverde hit Mike Irvin on an 18-yard TD pass on the 'Canes' first drive of the day. The play marked the season's 10th time that duo had combined on a scoring play. A Greg Cox PAT made the score, 7-0. To the shock of the 77,432 Superdome fans and an ABC national television audience, the Hurricanes would not get into the endzone again.

In the second quarter, UT quarterback Daryl Dickey tossed a six-yard TD to Terry Scott to tie the score at 7. The touchdown got the already frenzied Tennessee fans up on their feet. The crowd was so loud, in fact, that Miami used three timeouts in the first half and many times were forced back to the huddle when players couldn't hear the signals.

At 3:28 of the second quarter, UT's Jeff Powell fumbled at the Miami one-yard line, and receiver Tim McGee fell on the ball in the endzone to give Tennessee a 14-7 lead it would never relinquish.

The stunting, blitzing UT defense kept Miami off guard the entire second half. The 'Canes' running game never got untracked — Warren Williams finished as the team's leading rusher with 43 yards — and Miami was forced to the air.

Despite constant pressure, Testaverde finished with admirable statistics — 20 of 36 pass completions for 217 yards. Dickey, who earned MVP honors, finished with 131 yards on 15 of 25 passes.

"Some nights you come out and it is just not meant to be," said Johnson after the game. "Tennessee certainly had a lot to do with that, but we didn't do much to change matters."

Miami received a Sugar Bowl bid in a most unique setting — in the offices of the Orange Bowl Committee — so that local media could cover both the Orange and Sugar Bowl announcements. Sugar Bowl President Jim Higgins (left) and UM Athletic Director Sam Jankovich answer questions joined by (pictured from right) Sebastian the Ibis, Sugar Bowl Committee member Charlie Glueck and UM President Edward T. Sugar Bowl

FIESTA BOWL UCLA 39, Miami 37

Tempe, AZ, Jan. 1, 1985 — In a thrilling conclusion to a year full of last minute excitement, the Hurricanes were dealt a narrow 39-37 defeat at the hand of the UCLA Bruins before 60,310 fans at Fiesta Bowl XIV. The lead changed hands seven times before the Bruins John Lee kicked the deciding field goal with :51 remaining in the game.

Big plays marked the path to Miami's first half success, as the 'Canes rallied from an early 7-0 deficit to pull ahead 21-7. With four minutes gone in the first quarter, running back Darryl Oliver put Miami on the board by virtue of a 34-yard touchdown run. Oliver's TD jaunt knotted the score at 7-7, and Eddie Brown's electrifying 68-yard TD punt return gave Miami its first lead of the game at 14-7, with 2:18 remaining in the first period.

Bernie Kosar then followed with a 48-yard touchdown pass to Brian Blades in the early moments of the second quarter, but UCLA rode the kicking talents of Lee to a 22-21 halftime advantage. The junior All-American booted field goals of 51 and 33 yards.

After a 31 yard Greg Cox field goal put Miami ahead 24-22 at the mid-point in the third period, the Bruins ran off 14 unanswered points to build a 36-24 lead at the start of the final period. The damaging blows in the UCLA onslaught were Steve Bono touchdown passes of 10 and 33 yards to Mike Sherrard and Mike Young, respectively.

With time running out, Melvin Bratton put the 'Canes on top with a 19-yard touchdown run and a three-yard TD reception from Kosar with just 2:58 remaining. Bratton's second tally gave Miami a 37-36 advantage.

The Bruins began their final drive of the afternoon at their own 32 yard line, and in eight plays moved to the Hurricane seven, setting up Lee's heroics. His 22-yard field goal gave the PAC 10 team the decisive lead.

Miami's hopes of winning a second straight New Year's Day bowl game vanished when Bernie Kosar lost a fumble, following a sack at the Hurricane 31 yard line with less than a minute to play.

Melvin Bratton capped off his late-season rise to prominence with a pair of touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Protected by an offensive line composed of all underclassmen, QB Bernie Kosar passed for 300 total yards to set a new Orange Bowl standard.

ORANGE BOWL Miami 31, Nebraska 30

Miami, Fla., Jan. 2, 1984 — In what many called the most exciting game ever played in college football, UM ended a storybook climb to the national championship by dealing Nebraska a 31-30 setback.

The Cornhuskers opened the 50th edition of the Orange Bowl Classic with an 11-0 record and were a heavy favorite. They marched down the field with the opening possession only to have a blocked field goal snuff out a scoring threat. UM quarterback Bernie Kosar, who earned MVP honors by tossing for a record 300 yards, started the night off in dramatic fashion. He hit Stanley Shakespeare off UM's first snap from center, and five plays later found Glenn Dennison in the end zone for a one-yard score.

An NBC-TV audience and the entire nation was shocked when the first quarter ended with the Hurricanes ahead of the country's No. 1 ranked team by a 17-0 count. Jeff Davis' 45-yard field goal had increased UM's lead to 10-0 before an unsung hero emerged on the defense for Miami. Linebacker Jack Fernandez, filling in for injured Ken Sisk, picked off a Husker pass, and that set up another Kosar to Dennison TD strike. Fernandez was named Defensive MVP as the Hurricane contingent contained a Nebraska offense that had set numerous NCAA records.

The second period was all Nebraska, and as the half ended 17-14 Miami, it looked as though momentum had shifted. But the Hurricanes emerged from the lockerroom and again jolted their opponent with a furious burst of offense.

After a field goal tied the score at 17, UM drove for a pair of touchdowns with Kosar hitting speedy Ed Brown for huge chunks of yardage. Freshman tailback Alonzo Highsmith did the honors from the one yard line for the first tally, then Albert Bentley added a seven-yard scoring run.

Nebraska came back with a TD late in the third stanza to narrow the margin to 31-24. An errant Davis FG attempt gave the Huskers the ball back with just a few minutes remaining, and NU's offensive juggernaut put the ball in the endzone with :48 showing on the clock.

In a decision that most would hail as a true method of establishing a national champion, Coach Tom Osborne lined up his team for a two-point conversion attempt. With the ball placed on the left hash mark, QB Turner Gill rolled to his right and under pressure from a tremendous rush lofted a pass toward reserve tailback Jeff Smith. UM strong safety Ken Calhoun stepped in front to bat the pass away and seal the Miami win.

Cumulative UM Record: 11-1

PEACH BOWL Miami 20, Virginia Tech 10 — January 2, 1981

Atlanta's steel-blue sky provided the backdrop as the Hurricanes embarked on their first post-season bowl appearance since 1967, squaring off against Virginia Tech on a clear Peach Bowl day at Fulton County Stadium. Performing on national television (CBS), Howard Schnellenberger's troops set the pace early with two long scoring drives that proved to be the winning margin. UM took the opening kickoff and marched 68 yards to paydirt, with QB Jim Kelly hitting Larry Brodsky on a 15-yard strike to culminate the nine-play drive. On Miami's third possession, Kelly connected through the air on three occasions to spark a 10-play, 99-yard drive. Chris Hobbs did the honors with a 12-yard scamper up the middle to cap what CBS commentator Hank Stram described as "a textbook-perfect scoring drive." Danny Miller's second PAT of the afternoon made the score 14-0. The Hokies closed the gap to 14-10 early in the second half, but two field goals by Miller put the game beyond Tech's grasp and assured Miami of its first bowl victory since '66. Kelly was selected the game's outstanding player on offense, while UM middle guard Jim Burt was named defensive MVP.

BLUEBONNET BOWL Miami 21, COLORADO 31 — December 23, 1967

In a wild scoring spectacle Colorado finally won out 31-21 after the lead had changed hands five times at Rice Stadium in Houston, Texas. In the first quarter, Colorado's Larry Plantz tallied from seven yards out while Miami came back to deadlock the count on Joe Mira's score from the two. UM moved ahead moments later as Jimmy Dye stole a pass from Dan Kelly and romped 77 yards. A 31-yard field goal by John Farler just before halftime, followed by an 80-yard TD march with the second-half kickoff, sent the Buffaloes roaring to the front again, 17-14. Miami regained the lead 21-17 in the final period on an 85-yard drive sparked by Bill Miller's four pass completions to Jerry Daanen, the last one for nine yards and the score. With six minutes remaining, Colorado surged ahead for the third time on a dazzling 38-yard gallop by Anderson. UM was coached by Charlie Tate.

LIBERTY BOWL Miami 14, Virginia Tech 7 — December 10, 1966

Playing in frigid 36-degree weather in Memphis, Miami found itself on the trailing end of a 7-0 score at halftime, but in the end proved too powerful for Virginia Tech. Tech's only score of the game came early in the opening quarter after Jim Richard blocked Bobby Stokes' punt deep in UM territory. It took the Virginians five plays to go 21 yards for the TD. Miami tied the score in the third period on a 53-yard drive, highlighted by Bill Miller's passing and the running of Joe Mira. Miller threw seven yards to Mira for the TD and Ray Harris made good on his conversion try. A 7-yard march in the final quarter brought UM its winning TD. On the drive, Miller completed three air bombs to end Jimmy Cox (12, 11, and 38 yards), and Doug McGee barreled over from the one on fourth down with 8:05 left in the game. Miami's potent defense was led by the fabulous Ted Hendricks.

GOTHAM BOWL Miami 34, Nebraska 36 — December 15, 1962

This spectacle was played in freezing 17-degree weather in ice-plagued, snow-banked Yankee Stadium. The brave souls who showed up will remember the offensive thriller — and All-American QB George Mira — for many years to come. Leadership see-sawed back and forth, changing hands six times before Nebraska finally won out 36-34. The Hurricanes rolled up an amazing 502 yards rushing and passing to Nebraska's 296 — and had a margin of 34-12 in first downs. Scoring found the Cornhuskers drawing first blood, but Miami tied it up 6-6 and then took command, 12-6. Before the half ended, Nebraska led 13-12 and Miami 20-13 (score was tied 20-20 at half). In the final half, Miami led 27-20, and Nebraska 28-27, 36-27, and 36-34. Mira had one of his finest hours in this Gotham Bowl struggle, shattering his own all-time UM passing record with 24 completions for 321 yards and two touchdowns. This performance won him the game's MVP award. Scribes hailed him as the greatest passer to appear in Yankee Stadium since Johnny Lujack came to town with Notre Dame in the middle '40s.

LIBERTY BOWL Miami 14, Syracuse 15 — December 16, 1961

Miami broke away to a 14-0 lead at halftime, but Syracuse, led by Heisman winner Ernie Davis, came back in the game's waning minutes to pull it out of the fire, 15-14. James Vollenweider romped 12 yards through the entire Syracuse team for Miami's first TD in the opening quarter, while the other came on a 60-yard punt return by Nick Spinelli seconds before the half ended. Ernie Davis put Syracuse back into the running with a score in the third period. Dave Sarette passed to Easterly for a two-point conversion. Syracuse's other tally came in a final-period pass, Sarette to Easterly. The winning point was kicked by Ken Erickson.

GATOR BOWL Miami 14, Clemson 0 — January 1, 1952

When injuries cost Miami its backfield ace, Frank Smith, and several linemen prior to the game, Clemson was rated a top-heavy favorite. Coach Andy Gustafson even had to start freshmen. One of them was an end, Frank McDonald, who caught a pass to set up a touch-down. Flankman Ed Lutes caught a 46-yard aerial to set up another. Harry Mallios made both TDs, the first on a pitchout from Jack Hackett in the opening quarter and the other on a short leap over the goal in the second period. Elmer Tremont converted after both scores and contributed much toward frustrating Clemson's scoring ambitions with his punting. He booted nine times for an average of 44.5 yards per kick. Miami's defensive standout was Jim Dooley, the MVP. He intercepted four passes to set a Gator Bowl record.

ORANGE BOWL Miami 14, Clemson 15 — January 1, 1951

After being run over in the first half (Clemson led 9 to 1 in first downs, 158 yards to 39 yard in total offense, and by a 13-0 score), Miami caught fire in the third period and moved ahead 14-13. Harry Mallios, taking a pitchout from Bob Scheidenbach, sailed around right end five yards for Miami's first TD. Frank Smith tallied the other on a 14-yard pass thrown by Jack Hackett. Gordon Watson kicked both extra points. Apparently heading for another score, Miami drew three successive 15-yard penalties. One nullified a score, the others nullified good runs. Still another penalty sent Miami back to its one-yard line, where a safety (Sterling Smith tackled Frank Smith behind the goal line) gave Clemson a 15-14 victory. The Orange Bowl record for the longest completed pass through the air was equaled when Bob Scheidenbach tossed to end Ed Lutes for 78 yards.

ORANGE BOWL Miami 13, Holy Cross, 6 — January 1, 1946

This was a tense, thrilling struggle with each club scoring once in the opening half and missing the extra point. Joe Krull tallied for Miami on a reverse and Walter Brennan scored for Holy Cross on a pass from Stan Kozlowski. Seconds before the final gun sounded ending the game, the Crusaders came up with a long, desperation pass attempt thrown by halfback Gene De Filippo. Holy Cross end Frank Parker, open downfield, reached into the air but the ball bounced off his hands into the waiting left hand of Hurricane halfback Al Hudson. Al juggled the pigskin momentarily, and then the former Miami Edison High track star was on his way down the sideline. There wasn't a man in the Crusader squad who could have caught Hudson on that 89-yard sprint to fame. The game was over as Galloping Al shot past the 35-yard line, but he kept on going. When Harry Ghaul kicked the extra point it was anticlimatic. . . but it made the final count read Miami 13, Holy Cross 6.

ORANGE BOWL Miami 0, Bucknell 26 — January 1, 1935

This New Year's game was moved to a wooden stadium on the site of the present Orange Bowl, and the Miami-Bucknell battle inaugurated what is known today as the Orange Bowl Classic. Bucknell, champion of the smaller eastern colleges, had a sensational backfield and Miami never had a chance. UM failed to complete a single pass in 10 tries. Bucknell won, 26-0. UM was coached by Tom McCann.

PALM FESTIVAL Miami 7, Duquesne 33 — January 1, 1934

The Hurricanes met a Duquesne 11 that rated among the nation's best and was coached by Elmer Layden, one of the famed Four Horsemen of Notre Dame. The Pittsburghers used three teams, and Miami — which scarcely had any reserve talent — was worn down and Duquesne ran wild in the fourth quarter to win 33-7. (Miami was only down 12-7 when Duquesne started its final surge.) George Reichgott scored UM's lone TD early in the fourth period on a pass from Johnny Ott, and Pete Petrowski booted the extra point. The battle was waged at Moore Park.

PALM FESTIVAL Miami 7, Manhattan 0 — January 1, 1933

In this first Festival of the Palms Classic, Miami was matched against Coach Chick Meenan's colorful military-stepping Manhattan College team of New York City, which was rated best of the eastern small colleges and was supposed to win by a wide margin. Bob Zuppke, then Illinois coach, offered to help his ex-pupil Tom McCann prep the Hurricanes and did a masterful job. A fired-up defense stopped the favored New Yorkers — once holding three inches from a goal — while the Hurricanes cut loose on a series of wild spread formations to earn a thrilling 7-0 victory. This game was actually the forerunner to the Orange Bowl Classic. A crowd of only 3,500 observed the upset.

HURRICANE FOOTBALL HISTORY: 1926-1987

(Special thanks to Jim Martz for use of the following material taken from HURRICANE WATCH.)

The 1987 Hurricanes marked the 62nd edition of UM varsity football, six decades preceded by a freshman squad in 1926. Over the years, events surrounding the University, the city and the area have had a tremendous impact on the program.

Before competition even took place on a freshman level, plans for a 50,000-seat on-campus stadium were proposed in 1926 by the school's first president, Dr. Bowman Ashe. Work began on a temporary, 8,000-seat structure on campus, but one day later on September 17, 1926, a hurricane leveled much of South Florida, killing more than 130 people, damaging over 10,000 homes and shelving plans for the stadium.

Due to the storm, classes started late and it wasn't until October 23 that UM played its first game: a 7-0 win over Rollins in front of 304 spectators. The season included two wins over the University of Havana, with a Thanksgiving Day game in Miami and a Christmas Day meeting in Cuba.

The first varsity competition came in 1927 and coach Howard Buck guided the Hurricanes to a 3-6-1 record with a 39-3 win over Rollins in the first game.

But a 4-4-1 record the next year and lopsided losses prompted a group of local businessmen to offer financial backing to bring in a well-known coach.

J. Burton Rix, who had coached at Texas and SMU, arrived in time for the 1929 season and Miami's first varsity road games. The team travelled via the city's private car, "The Spirit of Miami" on the Eastern Seaboard Railroad. But the stockmarket crash doomed the off-campus financing and extended the financial woes of the area caused by the hurricane. Rix quit after one season and was replaced by Ernie Brett, who inherited an ambitious schedule in 1930.

Included in the season was a hectic road trip with three games in eight days, beginning with an indoor contest against Temple University in Atlantic City, New Jersey. It was Miami's first intersectional game and the UM players presented their opponents with coconuts prior to the contest; in return Temple handed Miami a 34-0 defeat. The following Tuesday, UM lost to Howard in Dothan, Alabama, then salvaged a 6-0 win over Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette on Saturday.

Also that season the Hurricanes played one of the nation's first night games. The October 31 game vs. Bowden College in Miami took place under high-watt, unprotected bulbs that could be heard exploding when it rained, causing the field to grow darker as the game progressed.

Several seasons later, UM entered the bowl business, upsetting Manhattan in the Palm Festival on January 1, 1933 at Moore Park in Miami. The next year UM went 5-0-2 but lost in the Palm Festival to a Duquesne team coached by Frank Layden (one of the four Horsemen of Notre Dame).

UM played Bucknell on New Year's Day following the '34 season in a "Wooden Bowl" that seated 4,000. The stadium was built by the American Legion in conjunction with the post-depression WPA and was purchased by Earnest Seiler, recreation director for the city of Miami. A halftime parade that included an orange-colored bowl was the humble beginning of the famed Orange Bowl extravaganzas produced by Seiler.

The following two years under Irl Tubbs (1935-36), UM posted winning records but bowed out as hosts of the New Year's Day games in Miami.

When Tubbs resigned to take the job at Iowa, Jack Harding came in to serve as both head coach and athletic director.

In nine seasons as head coach (with a two-year break for service in World War II), Harding moved the Hurricanes from the ranks of the small time into major college status. In '37 they moved into the Roddy Burdine Municipal Stadium (later known as the Orange Bowl), in '38 they won the first-ever meeting against Florida and that same year captured the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship for the first time.

Eddie Dunn—UM's first gridiron hero.

Eddie Dunn, a fabulous runningback out of Pittsburgh, starred for the Hurricanes in the late 30's and took over as head coach for two years (1943-44) during the war. When Harding returned just prior to the '45 season, it appeared that UM would suffer through another miserable season (in 1944 they were 1-7-1).

But enrollment began to swell as hundreds returned from the service, and although Harding did not even know the names of all of his players prior to the first game, by mid-season many were household names in South Florida. The Canes forged a 9-1-1 record that included one of the most memorable Orange Bowl games in history.

On January 1, 1946, UM and Holy Cross had battled to a 6-6 tie with just a few seconds remaining. Crusader QB Gene DeFilippo threw a desperation pass that went in and out of the arms of an open receiver and wound up in the hands of the Hurricanes' Al Hudson. A former Miami Edison High track star, Hudson juggled the ball and sprinted 89 yards for the winning score as time ran out.

Harding resigned as coach in 1948 and brought in his running mate from Pitt, Andy Gustafson, who led the Hurricanes into the "glory years" of UM football.

In 16 seasons, his teams went to four bowls and appeared on national television nine times. He developed the "Miami Drive Series", a form of the belly option generally considered the forerunner of the wishbone and coached Al Carapella as UM's first major college All-American (1950). His 1950 squad went 9-1-1, defeated Purdue one week after the Boilermakers had broken Notre Dame's unbeaten streak at 39 games and then earned an Orange Bowl bid against Clemson.

While NCAA probation kept UM out of possible bowls three years (1954-55-56), it did not diminish interest in the program. A No. 9 ranking by both UP and INS in 1954 marked UM's first-ever Top 10 ranking at the end of the season. In '56, on the strength of a 8-1-1 mark, the Hurricanes finished sixth in all three wire service polls.

Continued good attendance and a pair of 6-4 records ushered UM out of the 1950's and into the new decade. But the major concerns facing the University and the community heading into the 60s were the expected arrival of the pros and integration of college football in the South.

History showed that UM had cancelled a game with UCLA in 1940 because of two black Bruin players — Jackie Robinson and Kenny Washington. In '46, a game with Penn State was cancelled because of black players, but in 1950 UM broke a Southern tradition by playing against black players in a 14-6 defeat of Iowa on the road.

In the late 50s, UM had won a battle with the city to open seating to blacks in the entire Orange Bowl, and on January 31, 1961, the UM trustees voted unanimously to open the doors to "all students".

It wasn't until December of 1966 that UM signed a black athlete. Ray Bellamy, a 6-5, 210 pound wide receiver from Palmetto, Florida, chose UM over Florida State, Florida, Florida A & M and a number of major colleges in the Midwest. UM became the first major college in the Deep South with a black football player on scholarship, and Bellamy became a standout both on and off the football field.

Tom Sullivan, a tailback from Jacksonville, became the second black signee in 1968 and was followed one year later by future pro stars Burgess Owens and Chuck Foreman.

The early 60s at UM became known as "The Age of MIRAcles" as Key West native George Mira led Miami to a pair of bowl games while twice earning All-America status. Nicknamed "The Matador", he set nearly every passing record in the school's history, finished fifth in the Heisman voting as a senior and tied a national completion record (368) despite UM's 3-7 record.

The death of Jack Harding in March of '63 prompted Gustafson to step down as football coach and take over athletic director duties after the 1963 season.

After a national search, UM tabbed Georgia Tech assistant and former Miami prep coach Charlie Tate as head man in early 1964.

And after two years at .500 under Tate, another star emerged to lead UM to back-to-back bowl games.

Guatemala born and South Florida raised, Ted Hendricks, nicknamed "The Mad Stork", became one of the most feared pass rushers in college football. He became the school's first (and only) three time All-American (1966-67-68), and the late George Gallet, UM's sports publicist for more than four decades, rated Hendricks the greatest player in the University's history.

Following a Liberty Bowl in '66 and a '67 trip to the Bluebonnet Bowl, Tate's program fell on hard times. Lackluster seasons in 1968 and 1969 prompted his resignation as coach and athletic director two games into the 1970 season. Tate cited pressures of winning, harrassment of his family and the creeping tide of pro football as major problems.

That year the AFL and NFL merged, Don Shula arrived as head coach and Dolphin hysteria gripped South Florida.

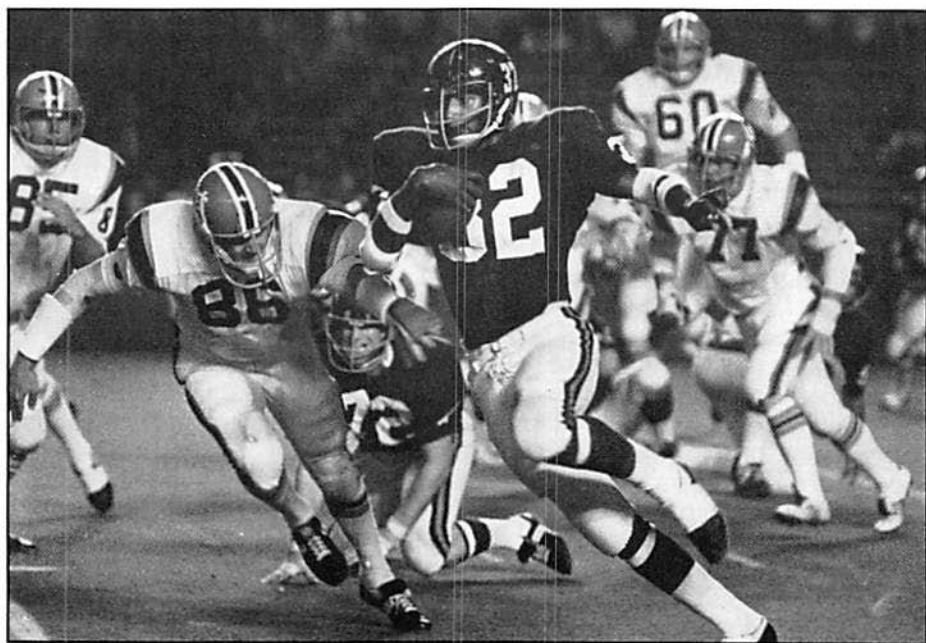

Walt Kichefski has been associated with UM football for over 40 years.

Walt Kichefski, long time UM assistant and noted "gator hater", took over on an interim basis. UM struggled through a 3-8 season. The bad times were eased some when UM pulled a stunning 14-13 upset of Florida in Gainesville.

UM spent the next two seasons under the "Little General" former Hurricane All-American QB Fran Curci. His teams suffered through a pair of losing campaigns, the second of which was topped off by one of the school's most infamous gridiron incidents.

After three games in 1972, the Hurricanes were winless and heading into a home contest with the Green Wave of Tulane when a "fifth down" play gave Miami a 24-21 win. The Hurricanes had started with a first and ten from Tulane's 12 yard line late in the game. After four plays (plus a nullified penalty down), Miami was exiting the field—still trailing 21-17. But the officials called the UM offense back onto the field for another down which resulted in a 32-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Ed Carney to split end Witt Beckman.

Hurricane All-American running back Chuck Foreman picked up 1,631 yards in career rushing from 1970 to 1972 before going on to a brilliant career with the Minnesota Vikings in the NFL.

After that season, Curci left the UM, and less than 24 hours later, he was replaced by Pete Elliott, a man who had led both California and Illinois to the Rose Bowl.

But Elliott continued UM's merry-go-round of coaches, staying two years and compiling a combined mark of 11-11. Both seasons started off with big wins over ranked foes, but each time disaster struck in the form of losses to lesser opponents. Besides declining attendance, another factor haunting the program was the loss of area blue chip players to recruiters around the country.

When Ernie McCoy retired as athletic director in 1975, Elliott resigned as head coach to replace McCoy. Offensive coordinator Carl Selmer immediately signed a five-year contract, becoming UM's fifth head coach in six years.

Selmer lasted two seasons, compiling dismal 2-8 and 3-8 records against some of the nation's stiffest competition. Attendance continued to drop despite a '75 home schedule that featured Oklahoma, Colorado, Houston, Navy, Notre Dame and Florida. Only 24,944 showed for the Notre Dame game, the smallest crowd to see an Irish contest since World War II.

Near the end of the '76 season, Dr. John L. Green, UM executive vice-president who oversaw athletics, decided to make a coaching change. When the news leaked out to the local media, Green decided to contact Selmer in Houston where UM was preparing for the season finale. Selmer was located at The Summit, where the team was watching a pro hockey game and was told he "had been terminated".

It marked the only time a UM football coach has been fired.

On December 27, 1976, journeyman Lou Saban began his two-year tenure as head coach, and in that span laid the foundation for the program's rise to national prominence in the 1980s.

Despite several major setbacks before he even coached his first game (including coronary by-pass surgery), Saban was in Miami for the final week of pre-season practice. His team performed well in the opener, a 10-0 loss at Ohio State. But UM lost the last six games of the year for a 3-8 record.

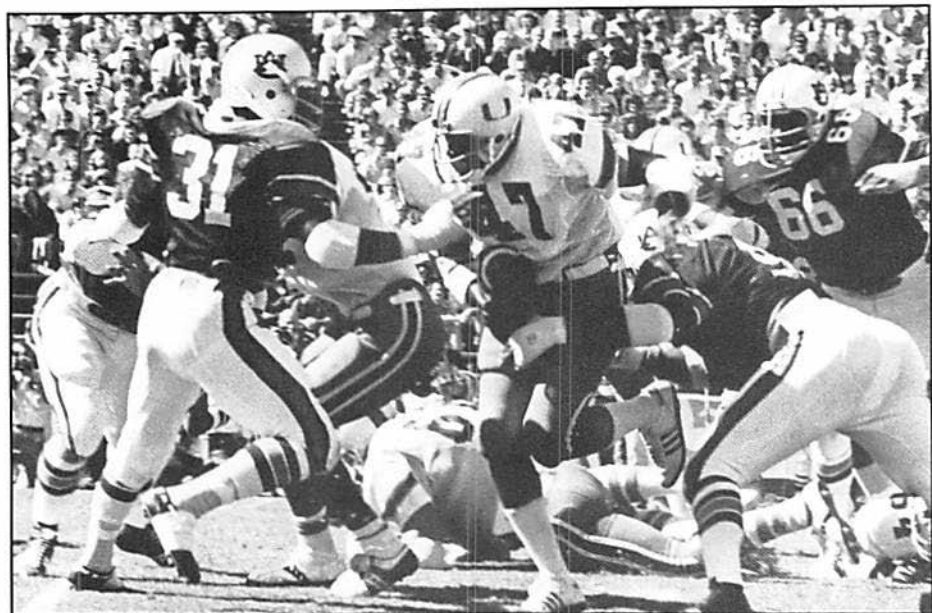

Realizing that quality players were the keys to success at Miami, Saban and his coach staff went on a recruiting blitz of the East Coast, Midwest and the State of Florida in the winter of 1977-78. UM signed the maximum 30 players that year, including 19 from Florida, in what was perhaps the school's best recruiting class. A total of six first team Class AAAA all-state Floridians were in that group, and 11 players went on to professional football.

In 1978, Miami closed out Saban's UM career with a win over rival Florida and fashioned a 6-5 record, only the second winning season in over a decade.

Out of the turmoil of the mid-'70's emerged the most prolific running back in the school's history, Ottis (O.J.) Anderson. The West Palm Beach native led UM in rushing three years (76-77-78), still stands as the career and season rushing leader and is the only back ever at Miami to rush for more than 1,000 yards in one season.

In January Saban left for West Point and UM hired Dolphin offensive coordinator Howard Schnellenberger as the eighth head coach since 1963.

He installed the pro style passing attack and in his first year at the helm, UM became known as the Jet Lag kids. They travelled over 28,000 miles — an NCAA record — including trips to the Japan Bowl, San Diego State, Penn State and Syracuse and posted a 5-6 record in 1979.

But by Schnellenberger's fifth and last season of 1983, UM had travelled even further — to the national championship of college football. Behind the passing wizardry of QB Bernie Kosar, the Hurricanes upset Nebraska 31-30 in the 50th Orange Bowl to cap a storybook 11-1 season and a No. 1 spot in both wire service polls.

In between, Miami appeared a record number of times on network television, made the first bowl appearance in 13 years (Peach 1980) and posted a five-year home record of 27-2.

But in May of 1984, Schnellenberger resigned to pursue a position with the USFL's Miami franchise.

UM's Athletic Director Sam Jankovich moved quickly and less than two months later plucked the likable Jimmy Johnson away from Oklahoma State as head coach.

Johnson accepted the position on June 5 and on August 27 the Hurricanes embarked on a 12-game '84 season that included eight opponents from bowls the previous year and opened with four games in a 20-day span.

The defending national champions faced pre-season No. 1 Auburn at the Meadowlands in the Kickoff Classic, travelled to Tampa and played Florida five days later, then played Michigan and Purdue in consecutive road games.

The incredible 8-5 season included the "Hail Flutie" loss to Boston College and an appearance in the Fiesta Bowl.

When offensive stars Bernie Kosar, Eddie Brown and Stanley Shakespeare departed following the '84 campaign, few football observers counted UM in next season's race.

But Johnson's ace in the hole came in the form of three-year reserve quarterback Vinny Testaverde, and by New Year's Day UM was battling Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl for a claim of the national championship.

In 1986, the sixtieth year of Miami football history, the Hurricanes fielded what many consider to be one of the best college football teams ever. Led by Miami's first Heisman Trophy winner, Vinny Testaverde, the 'Canes swept through the regular season with a perfect 11-0 slate, claiming victories over Florida (23-15 in Gainesville), defending national champion Oklahoma (28-16 in the Orange Bowl), and Florida State (41-23 at home).

Miami held down the nation's No. 1 national ranking for 15 weeks in the fall of '86 on the strength of a record breaking offense and the nation's No. 5 ranked defense—a unit that was led by first team All Americans Jerome Brown and Bennie Blades.

The dream of a second national crown in four years ended with a 14-10 loss at the Fiesta Bowl, but the Hurricanes of 1986 will long be remembered as one of the nation's most talented and televised teams of all time. In all, Miami appeared on network TV in eight of its 12 games, and in the spring of 1987, three Hurricanes (Testaverde, Alonzo Highsmith, and Brown) were selected in the first nine picks of the National Football League draft.

The University of Miami Hurricanes firmly established themselves as the "team of the 1980's" in 1987 by winning the school's second national championship in five years. The 'Canes, swept through the eleven game regular season undefeated for the second straight year, running the string of consecutive regular season victories to 32 straight.

Miami opened the season with its third win over the Florida Gators in the last four tries (31-4) in the Orange Bowl. The 'Canes then faced Jimmy Johnson's alma mater, the No. 10 ranked Arkansas Razorbacks, on the road and brought home a 51-7 win for their coach. "The Game of the Year," as it was later called in 1987, was played on October 3rd in Tallahassee as No. 3 Miami faced No. 4 Florida State on national television (CBS). Miami spotted FSU a 19-3 lead late into the third quarter before storming back on Steve Walsh touchdown passes of 49 yards to Melvin Bratton, and a pair of strikes (26 and 73 yards) to Michael Irvin. The 26-25 Miami win was preserved on the final Seminole play of the game, when UM's Bubba McDowell leaped high into the air to deflect a two point conversion passing attempt that would have given the home team the win and perhaps the national title (FSU finished the year 11-1 and ranked No. 2 in the country behind the Hurricanes). The Miami win was Jimmy Johnson's third straight over Florida State.

Convincing Miami victories over highly regarded Notre Dame (24-0) and South Carolina (20-16) in the Orange Bowl closed out the regular season and set up the No. 2 ranked Hurricanes' showdown against the top ranked Oklahoma Sooners in the 1988 Orange Bowl Classic. had dealt the powerful Sooners their only defeat of the year, and the national championship returned to Coral Gables for the second time since 1983. Miami controlled the tempo of nearly the entire game and prevailed 20-14 before more than 74,000 enthusiastic Orange Bowl Classic fans.

At season's end, free safety Bennie Blades — Miami's all-time interception leader — was named consensus first team All-American for the second straight year, and in January of 1988, he was named the co-recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award, which honors the nation's finest defensive back.

Defensive end Daniel Stubbs — Miami's all-time leader in QB sacks — closed out his memorable Miami career as a consensus All-American, while also finishing as finalist for the Outland Trophy.

On January 29, 1988, the Hurricane players and coaches were honored guests of President Ronald Reagan at the White House — a first for any collegiate athletic team in the state of Florida.

Consensus All-Americans Bennie Blades and Daniel Stubbs take part in the Hurricanes' victory parade through downtown Miami on January 22, 1988.

"This championship does not belong to me or any other individual. This is something for everyone to enjoy. This is your national championship."

TESTAVERDE WINS 1986 HEISMAN

NEW YORK, NY, December 6, 1986 — For the first time in the University of Miami history, a Hurricane athlete captured the prestigious Heisman Memorial Trophy, when quarterback Vinny Testaverde outdistanced his nearest competitors by the second-highest margin of victory in the award's history.

Testaverde finished first in each of the six geographic regions and received 678 of the 790 first-place votes cast. The announcement, made at New York's Downtown Athletic Club on a live national TV broadcast by CBS, sparked this comment from Testaverde: "I accept this award on behalf of the entire University of Miami football team, and as fulfillment of a dream that my father and I have shared for many years. I would like to thank all of those people that have supported me, they deserve this award as much as I do."

Other top finishers from the University of Miami include defensive end Ted Hendricks (fifth in 1968), quarterback George Mira (fifth in 1961 and 10th in 1962), quarterback Bernie Kosar (fourth in 1984) and Vinny Testaverde (fifth in 1985).

HEISMAN MEMORIAL TROPHY

Inception — In 1935 and known as the DAC Trophy, the first winner was Jay Berwanger of the University of Chicago.

The Name — In 1936 the trophy was renamed the Heisman Memorial Award following the death of the Director of Athletics at the Downtown Athletic Club, John W. Heisman.

The Trophy — Cast of bronze metal molding, the statue weighs 25 pounds and was designed by New York sculptor Frank Eliscu in 1935. Eliscu used his friend Ed Smith, a star on the NYU football team, as the player model for the initial creations.

Balloting — Done by 1,050 electors who are members of the newspaper, magazine, radio and television media. Also included in the balloting are former Heisman Trophy winners. Deloitte, Haskins and Sells, Certified Public Accountants, receive the ballots directly from the electors, count the results on the day the poll closes and report the tally to the Heisman Trophy Chairman.

Award Program — The country is divided into six regional sections, each supervised by a media representative, to assure nationwide participation. The sections are: NORTHEAST, MID-ATLANTIC, SOUTH, MIDWEST, SOUTHWEST, FAR WEST.

JACK HARDING MVP AWARD

Whatever prominence and national attention the University of Miami football team now enjoys, the roots of that exposure may be traced to the devotion and hard work that one man lent to the UM program.

Jack Harding became the Hurricanes' head football coach and athletic director in 1937 — an age when the athletic department sponsored two intercollegiate sports and average football attendance was in the hundreds. He served as athletic director at UM until his death in 1963 and has been inducted into the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame and the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics Hall of Fame.

Harding did more than raise the level of football played at the UM. He lifted an entire department by its bootstraps and headed Miami into the mainstream of major college athletics. From day one, he worked to upgrade the school's football schedule, until the likes of Florida, Clemson and Texas Christian — all collegiate powerhouses at the time — were annually featured opponents.

It's a fitting tribute that Miami's most prestigious team MVP award bears the name "Jack Harding." Past winners of the award have gone on to distinguish themselves both on the athletic field and in their communities — service that Jack Harding would deem equally important.
